Chiang Army Given Pledge Of U.S. Help

Marshall Says Mission To Be Sent to Formosa

WASHINGTON, April 20 (INS). — Defence Secretary George Marshall announced today that the United States is sending a military mission to Formosa to help train Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese National Army.

Formal announcement of the mission came a little more than 24 hours after Gen. MacArthur told Congress that the Chinese Nationalist stronghold must "under no circumstances" fall to the Communists.

Major-General William Curtis Chase, the liberator of Manila, was named chief of the mission which is expected to reach Formosa about May 1.

GROUP OF 100

Chase is expected to be accompanied by about 100 officers and technicians who will begin the task of aiding the Nationalists. The mission will be known as the United States Military Assistance Advisory Group in Formosa.

Marshall stressed that Chase "for the past few weeks has been in conference in Washington regarding his new assignment." This was taken to mean that the decision to send the mission was made some time before MacArthur's removal as supreme commander in Tokyo.

Sending of the mission, however, is a step in the direction of two of MacArthur's major objectives: (1) the safeguarding of Formosa, and (2) possible use of the estimated 800,000 Chinese Nationalists troops against the Communists.

GIVING EQUIPMENT

The United States has been supplying Chiang's forces with some military equipment and President Truman assigned the United States Seventh Fleet to "neutralize" Formosa at the time the United States intervened in Korea.

Chase, a native of Providence, R.I., and a graduate of Brown University, led the First Cavalry Brigade which liberated 3,700 American prisoners at Manila during the Philippine campaign in 1945.

Since 1949, Chase has been serving as chief of staff and deputy commander of the Third Army with headquarters at Fort McPherson, near Atlanta, Ga.

Britain Fails to Reach Tariff Deal With U.S.

TORQUAY, England, April 20 (Reuters).—Seven months of international trade dickering ends tomorrow.

Tired men and women from 40 countries taking part in the World Tariff Conference will hear final speeches from L. Dana Wilgress, Canadian High Commissioner to Britain and conference chairman, and Sir Stephen Holmes of the British Board of Trade.

During the whole seven-month wrangle it proved impossible to patch up a tariff-lowering agreement between the United States and Britain.

Although it is known the Americans came here ready to make substantial concessions, the price they asked in return from Britain and other Commonwealth countries in terms of reduced Imperial preferences was not acceptable.

And, as any concession received by one country is enjoyed by all others under terms of the general agreement on tariffs and trade, failure of the two largest trading powers to agree affected everyone else.

Details of the tariff reductions agreed on will not be made public for three weeks. Until then, businessmen will have to wait for the news that may mean greatly increased exports of their goods.

The secrecy that has surrounded the "silent conference" since it opened September 28 will then be lifted and schedules setting out the new rates of duty will be published.

Secret Police Said Holding Missing Man

GENEVA, Switzerland, April 20 (AP) — L. P. Beria's Russian secret police are holding the long missing Noel H. Field in Moscow's dread Lubianka prison, Czechoslovak refugee circles said today.

"That fellow is worth his weight in gold and is well taken care of by Beria," the editor of the weekly Cominform newspaper, Pavlo Yudin, was quoted as saying in an unguarded moment in Budapest.

Daylight Time Takes Effect On April 29

From sea to sea Canadians will tumble out of bed to greet the sun an hour earlier Sunday, April 29.

The reason is they set their clocks an hour ahead before retiring to conform to Daylight Time which is ushered in for 1951 on that date. Practically all will revert to Standard Time, September 30.

This will be the rule for most Canadians.

Alberta banned Daylight Time a few years ago by an act of the Legislature and Prince Edward Island has ignored it since its inception.

Windsor, Ont., will not use the fast time because its life is so interwoven with Detroit which does not change its clocks.

With these exceptions the device which brings an extra hour of sunshine in the evenings is observed in all the bigger centres and most of the smaller ones across the country.

April Well on Way To Sunshine Record

APRIL, 1951, was well on its way today in a sparkling bid for all-time sunshine record for the month in Victoria.

When the sun went down yesterday the total stood at 203 hours of sunshine since first of the month. The average for the whole of April is 202.

Record to date in the April sunshine league was set in 1918 when a total of 274 hours warmed there shores.

With ten days still to go, this year's April bids fair to eclipse the mark.

Yesterday's 13 hours and 18 minutes was biggest one-day sunshine quota this year.

Tankers Blaze; 38 Feared Lost

NEW ORLEANS, April 20 (AP) —Two oil tankers collided in a dense dawn fog in the Gulf of Mexico today with a probable death toll of 38. Both ships were swept by flames after the crash.

The Esso Greensboro was left a blazing hulk with only five of her 42 crew members rescued. The 10,000-ton tanker wallowed in a sea of flaming oil spilled from the 140,000-barrel cargo she was carrying from Aransas Pass, Tex., to Baltimore and New York.

The 26,500-ton super tanker Esso Suez, the other ship in the 5 a.m. collision, was cut by a 20-foot gash in her bow about ten feet above the water line. She was able however to put out the fires that swept her forepeak, and proceeded toward New Orleans. She is expected here tomorrow.

ONE FATALITY

First Mate Walter Brehm was the Suez's only reported fatality, but four of her 41 crew members were badly burned.

The Esso New York, which raced to the Greensboro's aid, radioed early this morning "no one believed alive on board."

Later, after rescuing four crew members of the Greensboro, one badly burned, and recovering two charred bodies, the New York abandoned rescue efforts.

A third body was was recovered late today from the sea.

But a seaplane sighted a fifth survivor late in the day and dropped a life raft and rations. The man climbed aboard and was later taken aboard the Esso Burlington. He was reported badly burned.

EMPTY BOAT

A Coast Guard amphibian reported sighting only an empty lifeboat and two mattresses on the rough sea near the Greensboro.

The plane's pilot said smoke from the blazing Greensboro "was at least 500 feet high and the water was burning near the ship. Oil was spread over a two-mile area. Flames leaped 150 feet into the air.

"I just don't know enough adjectives to describe the scene."

Survivor Recalls Horror

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., April 20 (AP)—Four survivors of today's Gulf of Mexico tanker crash arrived here tonight by plane. One was Leroy Fay, Baltimore seaman who escaped after the Esso Greensboro exploded.

He was one of the few of the Greensboro's 42 crew members to escape.

Fay, burned severely, lay on an operating table at the Naval Hospital. Here is the story that came from his puffed, swollen lips:

"When the ship exploded I was lying in my bunk.

TRIED TO RUN

"The passageways filled with men trying to get out. You should have heard all those guys screaming and hollering for help. Everybody tried to run topside. Quick as they did, they were burned alive.

"I opened a hatch and flames blew back in my face.

"There was a kid there, got burned standing up.

"Another man opened a door and was burned alive where he stood . . . me and Johnny (he couldn't identify Johnny any further) lay on the deck so we could get as much air as possible.

"We stayed there three hours. I was barefooted and my feet were all burned.

"I ran over the red-hot deck in my bare feet. Then I jumped over the side. By that time the Esso New York was standing by and I swam to the lifeboat."

Seafarers Join T.L.C.

OTTAWA, April 20 (CP)—The Trades and Labor Congress of Canada today announced it has affiliated the Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.).

The 8,000-member union, winner of a jurisdictional fight with the Communist-dominated Canadian Seamen's Union, was designated as the congress affiliate for unlicensed personnel on ships on the Great Lakes, both coasts and in deepsea service.

Shout "Save the Country!"

New Yorkers Jam Streets to Give MacArthur Unprecedented Welcome

NEW YORK, April 20 (AP).—With a wave of his gloved hand, Gen. Douglas MacArthur captured New York today.

He whipped the city's millions into a screaming frenzy of excitement and adulation, stirring the spectacle of a lifetime. Not even New York had ever seen anything like it.

MacArthur's open convertible traveled a 15-mile route, from mid-town Manhattan up through Central Park and along the waterfront to Lower Broadway.

In Times Square, a theatre marquee announced: "Held Over —The MacArthur Story." A gigantic electric billboard spelled out only two words, "Welcome Mac."

At that point, and in the garment district the first heavy storm of confetti and long streamers began to rain from office windows.

The streets blazed with flags and banners, giant pictures of MacArthur cut from today's New York papers and tacked to a pole, and hundreds of home-painted slogans . . . "God Bless You Mac, Glad You're Back."

People screamed, wept, and waved in spasms of excitement as the general's car passed.

A policeman, marching beside the car, gasped "This is the damnedest thing I've ever seen."

White-coated nurses and interns lined the East River Drive from nearby hospitals. Fish-cutters, in stained and grimy aprons, longshoremen, and booted ship's crews shoved and jostled each other along the waterfront.

Along Park Avenue—its expensive serenity displayed by the crowds jamming the sidewalks and the maids, butlers and minked women hanging from upper floor windows—one man shouted:

"Come on, MacArthur. Save the country!"

It was the women who seemed the loudest. They screamed, "God bless you, General!" They held up children to see better. One matronly woman with a Brooklyn accent shook her son's shoulder, yelling: "Take off your hat, Oiving! Take off your hat!"

On Lower Broadway, the fluttering paper and tape blotted out the sky. A deafening, ear-crushing roar went up as MacArthur's car halted to wait for an honor guard of marchers to start.

Tighe Leads Patricias From Forward Position

IN KOREA, April 20 (CP) — In a tented city with gravelled sidewalks, electric lights, telephones, sports grounds and showers, the Patricias cleaned up Tuesday after their latest session in the North Korean Hills.

South of the 38th Parallel, the troops relaxed after their latest operation, a nine-day excursion into North Korea which saw them wind up eight miles north of the boundary.

The Patricias contributed more than 5½ miles of that advance, taking five mountains against varying Chinese opposition and increasingly thankful that North Korea's hills run mostly north and south, not east and west. They were easier to capture that way.

C.O. COMMENDED

The operation was the second led by Major Pat Tighe of Victoria, commanding the battalion in the absence of Lt.-Col. J. M. Stone, out with smallpox.

The battalion functioned like clockwork under the quiet-spoken major who directed every phase from the hills just behind the lead company.

It is unusual in this war theatre for a commanding officer to operate from a slit trench on the mountain tops, generally unarmed and with only a map-board slung over his shoulder.

Twice Tighe has been commended by Brig. William Burke, commanding the 27th Commonwealth Brigade, for the Patricias' work.

Soldier Starts Homeward Trip

SEATTLE, April 20 (CP) — A grieving Canadian soldier was plucked from a Korea-bound transport today after word was received that his wife and son had died in a railway crossing accident at Masson, Que.

A United States Coast Guard vessel took aboard Pte. Fernand Leduc of the Royal 22nd Regiment in what the army said was the first time a Canadian sailing overseas for war has started a return home in such a manner.

One-Third at Sea

Rest of Brigade Ready For Journey to Korea

SEATTLE, Wash., April 20 (CP) — Two big transports lolled gently at their berths here tonight, waiting to move the remainder of Canada's United Nations brigade to Korea.

About a third of the 5,000-man force is already at sea after a quiet but dramatic send-off.

The army asked that names of the three ships and departure times not be divulged.

Fatigue parties went aboard the two U.S. Navy transports tonight to get the galleys and messes ready for the troops. In all, it took more than 600 men on the three ships to prepare and serve food for their chums.

TROOPS BUSY

Today was warm and bright as the troops at Fort Lewis, 40 miles south of here, packed their kit and made the myriad last-minute preparations for departure—letters, telephone calls, shining boots and rifles.

The battalions not going to Korea will return to Wainwright, Alta., in about three weeks to train reinforcements for the overseas brigade. If the Korean war goes on for some time yet, these battalions may rotate with those now about to take the field.

The U.S. aircraft carrier Valley Forge was just arriving home from the Korean war as the Canadians sailed.

Brigade members who had been in the original advance party which went to Korea in November didn't have much flattering to say about the foreign soil they are heading for.

"It was fairly cold when we were there last time," said Sgt. John MacLeod of Charlottetown. "The smell will be worse now because it's just starting to get hot over there."

Mississippi Surges South

CHICAGO, April 20 (AP)—The crest of the bloated Mississippi River surged southward from Wisconsin today and several downstream cities in Iowa and Illinois rushed preparations to combat the highest floodwaters in their history.

The Red Cross estimated more than 2,800 persons have been forced from their homes by the floodwaters.

ALL ABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

Fritz Feckless, the notorious globe-trotter, has just arrived in this country. Feckless likes to write to the papers. The papers are foolish enough to print the stuff. Mortimore met him on a train, and contrived at great expense to steal a despatch which Feckless sent to an English daily, THE DOUBLE STANDARD. Here it is:

* * *

VANCOUVER, Canada.—My British friends have asked me to tell them how things are in Canada.

At the time I write this, I have been in Canada about three days. My British friends agree that three days is just the right time to form a judgment of a country. They say that most people who pass judgment on Britain have stayed there about that time.

"How are the Canadian people bearing up under that Government they have there?" my British friends want to know.

Well, in spite of all the rumors you hear, the Canadian people are bearing up very well. I can't find words to express the courage of the Canadian people under desperate hardships.

As soon as I arrived here, I stopped a tough Canadian lumberjack who was hurrying home with his axe under his arm from work in the woods near Granville Street. I asked him whether he could find words to express the courage of the Canadian people.

"Whatcha talking about, Mac?" he demanded. "You trying to sell me something?"

That logger's attitude, with its typically Canadian modesty, its bravery and refusal to recognize defeat, is typical of the attitude you find everywhere.

That logger, to me, represents Canada. Why? Because he is the only Canadian I have met so far. I suppose I shall meet other Canadians before I leave. They will be typical Canadians too—unless I disagree with what they say.

* * *

My British friends want to know whether people really are going short of food in Canada, or whether that is just ill-informed talk.

Well, I am in Canada, and you can take it from me. The Canadian rations are terrible. Let me give you an example:

I was riding on a Canadian train, and the only food I had for two days was a package of sandwiches, a bag of mixed nuts and a cup of coffee.

Is that a typical Canadian menu? Well, it is a typical menu for Canadians who run out of money on a train, as I did. And nowadays most Canadians are rationed very much the same way. Of course the people with money get a little more to eat than that.

* * *

And how do the Canadian people feel about nationalization? They don't like it.

In British Columbia, which is a typical Canadian province, the Government has taken over the hospitals. When a free-enterprise Government was in power, the hospitals were supported by people who could afford to pay, and the hospitals were going broke.

Now they are supported by people who can't afford to pay, and the hospitals are still going broke. So is the Government.

However, the Government can't be accused of trying to give the people something for nothing, as the British Government is always being accused of doing. On the contrary, the Government here seems to be giving the people nothing and charging them a great deal for it—a policy which builds character.

As I said before I came to Canada (and I have no intention of changing my opinion) all this goes to show the folly of launching unsound political experiments. Sound political experiments are much better.

But the Canadian people are keeping up their courage and their sense of humor—that Canadian sense of humor which makes light of all hardships.

Some of the people in British Columbia say with merry laughter that it will be the Government which needs the courage, when the next election rolls around. In fact, a few of the people find the situation so amusing that they are going into hysterics about it.

* * *

In spite of all this, it's still the same old Canada. You only have to visit a quaint half-timbered British Columbia liquor store to find that the spirit of the people hasn't changed, although there's less spirit in the bottles these days.

And finally, there is that remarkable institution, the Canadian beer parlor. The Canadian beer parlor is a kind of neighborhood club, where all the people gather to swill beer, bang their fists on the table and shout at one another in a neighborly way.

In British Columbia, where you can study the Canadian beer parlor at its best, there are no pictures on the wall, no advertisements, no games, no music, no food—nothing, in fact, to stop you drinking beer.

There is no institution like the beer parlor in Britain. However, there are several institutions like it in Canada. One is called Oakalla. Another is called Kingston Penitentiary.

* * *

Yes, you can still find gracious living in Canada. But there is a feeling among some Canadians that gracious living is not enough. They want food too. The average Canadian wage-earner simply is not getting enough money to buy food. It is a luxury he can not afford.

So, many Canadians are emigrating to countries like the United States, Great Britain and Ontario. But they are taking their courage and their sense of humor with them.

Defy Order, Pensioners Instructed

Old-age pensioners last night cried out against the latest move to pull the Hospital Insurance Service back on its feet.

They protested strongly the service's order to B.C. hospitals to "take charge" of pensioners' [illegible] in hospital.

The move is designed to ensure that hospitals collect at least part of the $35-maximum co-insurance charge from pensioners.

It also is aimed at preventing pensioners, while in hospital, from accumulating "substantial sums" of money which normally would go for rent.

DEFIANT

But the province's pensioners have been urged to defy the order. The Old-Age Pensioners' Association has advised its 30,000 members in British Columbia to refuse to turn their cheques over to hospitals until "the whole matter has been cleared up to our satisfaction."

In Victoria, branch president Frank Partridge termed the move "scandalous."

"Why don't they give us warning?" he demanded. "How do they expect us to pay rent?"

Hospital Insurance Commissioner Lloyd Detwiller said hospitals will allow pensioners enough money from their $50 cheques to keep up room rents and other outside expenses, plus $5 "comfort money."

Mr. Partridge said his organization would discuss the subject at a meeting May 2.

Harold Thayer, president of the Victoria Senior Citizens' Campaign Council, said his group would register a strong protest at a meeting Tuesday.

The Old-Age Pensioners' Association will seek a ruling on the legality of the new move from the National Health and Welfare Department. The Old-Age Pensions Act forbids seizure of pensioners' cheques by any creditor.

Mr. Detwiller had explained cheques wouldn't be "seized." "If the pensioner doesn't comply with our request," he said, "we are prepared to sit down and discuss why not."

Mayor in Key Job On National Body

MAYOR Percy E. George has accepted the chairmanship of the important resolutions committee of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities.

Executive Director George S. Mooney, in a letter to Mayor George yesterday, asked the mayor to accept the chairmanship which he said had to be "a person who is thoroughly familiar with the Federal background and has general knowledge of municipal matters."

Mayor George wired his acceptance. The committee will meet June 10 at London, Ont., before the annual convention.

"This is a key committee and a good deal of success of the conference hinges on the thoroughness and dispatch with which the committee undertakes the responsibility," said Mr. Mooney. "Because I know of nobody more fitted for the task, I am inviting you."

Mayor George is first vice-president of the federation.

Former Women Officers of R.C.A.F. Being Sought by New Victoria Unit

Finding former R.C.A.F. Women's Division officers is among current objectives of Victoria's new R.C.A.F. Aircraft Control and Warning Unit.

"The establishment calls for W.D. personnel and, although there won't be any immediate acceptance, we would like to get in touch with some of them," said an officer of the new unit.

The new air force reserve organization was formed last February. Sqdn.-Ldr. P. D. P. Holmes is its commanding officer, and headquarters are at 1315 Government Street.

RADAR RECEIVED

Some radar equipment was received last week and will be established at the unit's technical site at Gordon Head.

Present membership comprises a solid nucleus of former R.C.A.F. personnel, and the top strength objective is approximately 150 members. A recruiting drive is to start soon. Young men over 16 years of age, and otherwise qualified, will have an opportunity of training in radar and general aircraft detection.

The unit meets each Thursday evening and throughout Sunday at the Government Street headquarters. Sunday training, it is noted, allows for work in conjunction with the City of Vancouver fighter squadron.

Belgium is the most densely populated country in Europe with 710 persons to the square mile.

Union's Lock-Out Charge Held Up by Technicality

A technicality has delayed the laying in Victoria police court of a charge against a city sash-and-door firm of locking out its ten employees, in alleged violation of the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act.

G. F. Gregory, counsel for the Labor Relations Board, said the board cannot itself charge the Builders' Sash & Door Ltd., 350 Garbally Road, but that this must be done by the business agent of the union that represents the employees.

Roy Whittle, International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) Victoria local secretary, will probably start legal proceedings on his return from Vancouver Monday.

THREATENED TO QUIT

The workers at the sash-and-door plant were allegedly locked out after negotiations for a new contract bogged down and they threatened to resign.

The labor board, however, asked them to continue at work. The company says the men's resignations were accepted, and the plant closed on April 9.

Upon summary conviction, the I.C.A. Act provides for a maximum penalty of $125 a day for each, or part of each, of the days the men were locked out, and a further fixed fine of $50 for each person acting on behalf of the employer, and contributing to the lockout.

The act stipulates also that all employees must be reinstated and back wages made up upon conviction.

Welcome for General Shows Real Freedom

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
Associated Press News Analyst

Europe has been quick to see in the Gen. Douglas MacArthur row something that Americans, long accustomed to it, have been prone to overlook in the heat of debate.

Yet it is something which typifies as well as anything the very attitude of life which is fundamentally opposed to Communism.

It is the spectacle of a general, so badly on the outs with his commander-in-chief that he had to be ousted, yet able to use the world's greatest forum of government—a joint session of the Congress—with complete liberty to reiterate his views and his criticisms.

It is the spectacle of millions of people, disagreeing with the edict of their President for one part and paying tribute to the untarnishable record of a hero for another part, lining the streets to cheer the Government's opponent, under the protection rather than the clubbing of police.

NOT IN RUSSIA

European editors have been quick to point their fingers at Russia and say "it couldn't happen there."

These are the same editors who have criticized Gen. MacArthur's actions and the policies he has proposed.

But they have seen the President of the United States cancel a speech and advance a press conference so as not to divert any part of the spotlight from Gen. MacArthur's day in Washington. They have heard the Defence Secretary and the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff decline to appear before Congressional committees before Gen. MacArthur has had his chance.

The London Times, for instance, foresees a great deal of trouble for the administration growing out of the general's Washington speech, even though it thinks his dismissal was necessary. But it uses the whole thing to contrast the working of democracy with totalitarianism.

Ottawa Hopes To Open Way For Pensions

OTTAWA, April 20 (CP).—Health Minister Paul Martin said today the Federal Government hopes it will be possible to proceed at this session with the constitutional amendment necessary to open the way for a contributory old-age pensions program.

In an interview, Mr. Martin said Justice Minister Stuart S. Garson has sent to the Provincial Governments a fourth draft of constitutional amendments proposed at the Federal-Provincial conference last December.

The second amendment would authorize the provinces to collect an indirect sales tax of not more than 3 per cent.

Speaking of the old-age pensions amendment, Mr. Martin said:

"We very much hope that the latest revision of the text of the proposed amendment . . . will resolve any remaining differences and will receive their (the provinces) prompt and unanimous approval.

"As soon as agreement is reached, the Federal Government will lose no time in presenting to Parliament a resolution requesting the United Kingdom Parliament to pass the old-age pensions amendment."

No Income Tax Exemption For Korea-Bound Troops

By Colonist Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA, April 20.—Finance Minister Douglas Abbott told the House of Commons today "it is not contemplated there will be any exemption in income tax" for the Canadian forces who have left for Korea. Major-General George R. Pearkes, V.C., Progressive Conservative member for Nanaimo, had asked if these forces would now be exempt from taxation on their service pay.

The Finance Minister added that "my own personal view is that no group should be exempt from the payment of income tax."

Ottawa Flood Still Dropping

OTTAWA, April 20 (CP).—Good news came to Ottawa Valley flood points today with reports that both the Ottawa and Gatineau Rivers were still dropping from their flood high of a few days ago.

At Gatineau Point, five miles northeast of the Capital, where 150 families have had to leave flood-swept homes, the level dropped two inches.

At the Rideau Canal locks, a one-inch drop was recorded.

O. S. Luney, the Ontario Hydro Commission's eastern regional manager, said the flood crisis is over and providing there is not further heavy rain, the river level will drop gradually.

The Ottawa River valley got a full day's sunshine today for the first time in a fortnight and the prospect for tomorrow is for warmer weather and more sun.

Light, Fight Fires To Save B.C. Trees

VANCOUVER, April 20 (CP).—Orchardists were lighting fires in the Okanagan Valley tonight. At the same time, volunteers were fighting to control fires elsewhere.

This paradox was brought on by the frost menace in the Okanagan, where thousands of smudge pots burned for the third night straight, and the three-week dry spell in B.C. bushland.

The weather office said weather in the Okanagan would continue clear and cold. A low of 25 was anticipated tonight at Penticton.

The frost has already taken an estimated toll. It left a trail of blackened blossoms, striking at cherry crops and other stone fruits. Tender buds and blossoms withered. Most apple trees escaped damage.

Meanwhile, more than 100 men were fighting 30 fires burning in the vast Vancouver Forest District.

All were reported under control.

Forest Service officials said the majority of the blazes resulted from slash-clearing fires which jumped out of bounds.

Search Fails To Find Plane

PRESQUE ISLE, Me., April 20 (AP)—A far-flung aerial search failed today to turn up any trace of an R.C.A.F. fighter plane that disappeared in a mysterious dive over northern Maine wilderness Thursday.

Canadian and American aircraft swept some 3,000 square miles over river valleys and sparsely-settled border country in their search for Flt.-Lieut. Robert E. Kent, 28, of Vancouver.

Kent's Mustang, silver with red wing-tips, vanished in a dive from an altitude of 4,000 feet as his formation entered a cloud. His plane was one of eight Canadian fighters on a training flight from Chatham, N.B., to Ottawa. Six reached Ottawa safely and another landed at St. Hubert, outside Montreal.

Hears of Boom Seizure

British Columbia Forests Act Outrageous, Says Chief Justice

VANCOUVER, April 20 (CP).—Chief Justice Wendell B. Farris today described British Columbia's Forests Act as "shocking" during hearing of a court case.

He was told that two booms of logs valued at more than $8,000 were seized last September 14, and that the owners were not notified until they received a letter from the Forestry Department dated September 23.

Counsel for the owners, Harrison Mills, said the act allows only ten days from the date of seizure in which to enter protest.

"This is the most outrageous act I have ever read," Chief Justice Farris said. "A man might have his whole life savings destroyed for some minor infraction under the arbitrary provisions of this statute, which does not even fix the penalty.

"Government officials constitute themselves judge and jury," he added, "but it seems to me that a man should have the right to appear before an independent court and not have his guilt or innocence determined by the very officials who are making a complaint against him."

MIS-MARKING ALLEGED

The Harrison Mills booms were seized for alleged mis marking by the owners.

The Chief Justice decided he had no power to extend the time to protest regarding the larger boom, valued at $7,000. But he did order a hearing regarding the smaller boom.

The case was adjourned for one week and counsel for the logging company will dispute the validity of the seizure on the ground that it was not made by a sheriff.

Manitoba's House Prorogues To End Record 11-Week Sitting

WINNIPEG, April 20 (CP).—The third session of Manitoba's 23rd Legislature prorogued tonight, completing the longest sitting in 26 years. It lasted 11 weeks.

Prorogation came at 10:55 p.m. Winnipeg time. The House commenced its sittings February 1.

Actual sitting days numbered 53, during which time 110 bills were presented.

Premier D. L. Campbell said a special session might be called to deal with Government's power legislation.

Yesterday, Winnipeg City Council called for a referendum on the power question, snarling the Government's plan to equalize power rates throughout the province.

Among bills given Royal assent was one that enabled farmers to vote on whether they wanted to continue compulsory marketing of coarse grains in Manitoba.

Another bill provided for the Province to take over residential rent control when the Federal Government vacates the field April 30.

RECORD BUDGET

Premier Campbell also presented a record budget of $43,774,914 for the 1950-51 fiscal year. No increase in taxation resulted.

A bill amending the Hospital Aid Act was also approved which will increase the rates paid by municipalities for indigent patients.

Amendments in milk control were approved, including the right of retailers to sell milk at less than maximum board prices.

The Province decided to delay its liquor investigation for another year.

Denies Mail Rate To Be Increased

OTTAWA, April 20 (CP).—Postmaster-General Rinfret said in the Commons today there is "absolutely no foundation" for a report that ordinary postal letter rates are to be increased by one cent.

Hhe gave this reply to Gordon Graydon (P.C., Peel), who questioned him on a published report that the rate would go to five cents from four cents.

Four Separate Points

Ottawa Gives Addresses For Canadian Units' Mail

OTTAWA, April 20 (CP).—The army today issued instructions on how to address mail to Canadian troops in the Far East.

There are four addresses, two in Japan, two in Korea. One Japanese address is that of an administrative echelon being established at Kure. The other is the Canadian military mission at United Nations command headquarters in Tokio.

For the time being there are two separate addresses for troops in Korea, one for members of the 2nd Battalion of Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry and one for members of other units of the 25th Brigade, not yet there.

Once the Patricias rejoin the brigade, a new address will be issued for them.

Here are the four addresses:

For troops in Korea or going there, other than the Princess Patricias:

Regimental number, rank and name,
Name of unit,
C.A.P.O. 5000,
C/o Postmaster, Vancouver.

For members of the staff of the Canadian Military Mission, Tokio:

Regimental number, rank, name,
Canadian Military Mission, Far East,
C.A.P.O. 5001,
C/o Postmaster, Vancouver.

For Personnel of the 2nd Battalion Princess Patricias:

Regimental number, rank, name,
2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry,
C.A.P.O. 5002,
C/o Postmaster, Vancouver.

And for Canadian forces at Kure, Japan:

Regimental number, rank, name,
Name of unit,
C.A.P.O. 5003,
C/o Postmaster, Vancouver.

No Blame Attached To Guards by Jury

WINNIPEG, April 20 (CP).—A coroner's jury tonight ruled the man accused of five slayings in his family last Sunday committed suicide by hanging in nearby Headingly Jail.

They attached no blame to guards for the death Thursday of 31-year-old John Henry Schmidt, Manitoba farmer who hanged himself with his belt.

He was alleged to have slain with a hunting rifle last Saturday, his fater, mother, two sisters and a brother, in the Gaysville farm home, 40 miles southwest of Winnipeg.

His death preceded the Mennonite funeral of the deceased by a few hours.

First Detailed Survey of Fishermen Complicated Task for Census-Takers

OTTAWA, April 20 (CP).—For the first time in Canada's census-taking history, a detailed study will be launched next June of the Canadian commercial fisherman. And that involves complications.

The first is how to define a "commercial" fisherman. For there are those who sometimes combine sport with work and earn a little cash by selling their catch.

After looking at the problem from various angles, the Fisheries Department decided that for the purpose of the census, a "commercial" fisherman is one who engaged in catching or carrying fish in the period from June, 1950, to May, 1951. He must have fished for at least 15 days or earned at least $100 from fishing. By this definition, those who earned $100 or more in less than 15 days, or who worked for 15 days or more for less than $100, will be included.

MORE TROUBLE

Here further complications may arise. A fisherman may know how many days he spent fishing, but he may not know his actual earnings.

To meet this the bureau decided that the census-taker will limit the "number of days fishing" question to four groups: Less than 30 days; 30 to 59 days; 60 to 89 days; and 90 days or over.

And when it comes to questions about the fisherman's earnings, the census-taker will simply ask whether they were less than $100; between $100 and $999; from $1,000 to $1,999; or $2,000 or more.

DEEP-SEA SURVEY

Deep-sea fishermen who may intend leaving for the fishing grounds before the census is taken will be told in advance of the information required from them. This they can leave with their wives to pass along to the census-taker.

And to square things away, there will be a double check. A complete count will be made at the time of the regular census. Later the bureau will mail questionnaires to selected fishermen to provide representatives samples of the fishermen by income groups, localities, time spent fishing and basis of employment.

They will be asked to supply details of vessel and equipment used, kinds of fish taken, operating expenses and other items that form part of the overall economic pattern of fishing.

IMPORTANT

The information received will be treated confidentially and it is important. For not only will it become part of the general Canadian economic scene, but also will provide the Fisheries Department with some pertinent data on the fishing business.

It can help the department in deciding for example, whether a certain segment of the industry [illegible] this support be granted, what influence it will play in the fishing community.

"The assistance given by the board to the fishermen," says the bureau, "and the influence exerted by the department on the development of the industry, can result in maximum benefits only if they are based on accurate and detailed information [illegible] Fisheries census of 1951 is designed to provide."

Pte. Scott's was the only name on the list. His next-of-kin is his mother, Mrs. Mary Scott, who lives in Ottawa.

The Crux of the MacArthur Affair

DISMISSING the incidence of General MacArthur's recall and putting in the perspective it deserves the viewpoint expressed by him in a notably statesmanlike and dignified speech to the American Congress, the emergence of one thing is clear. That is the divergence of top-level thought as to the overall strategy that should animate the Western powers in their preparations against possible Russian aggression. A bugbear of the early years of the war has risen again, viz., whether priority should be given to the Far Eastern front or to the European front.

Understandably enough General MacArthur favors the Far East, not at the expense of Europe but concomitant with it. It is his belief that potential enemy action on two fronts can and should be matched by counter efforts on our part. The former Supreme Commander has been outside continental U.S.A. since before the war and may not be so well posted on the capacities and resources of his own country as those of his peers who think otherwise. At all events majority Allied opinion holds to the thesis that the West is not strong enough to tackle both ends of the world at one and the same time.

This poses, as it did during the war, a choice that in a sense becomes no choice. Inevitably the preference must be cast in favor of Europe. The loss of the Western European countries and their military and industrial assets, or even their immobilization because of enemy occupation, is too grave to be risked. By comparison the loss of Asia to Communist control, while alarming, would not be so catastrophic to Western civilization. And it is upon Western civilization and its ability to retain strength and striking power that the hopes of a free world must rest.

Nevertheless the considered strategic opinion of so proved a military commander as MacArthur cannot be shrugged off. No American knows the Far East, its hopes, aspirations and inclinations, better than he does. Nor can the Allies take lightly his statement that "you cannot appease or otherwise surrender to Communism in Asia without simultaneously undermining our efforts to halt its advance in Europe." If the threat of war that is feared is global in possibility, it would seem that preparations to meet that threat must also be global in so far as is physically possible. As for appeasement as a policy, that should have been discredited beyond repair.

The situation is complicated further by the fact that the West, via the agency of the United Nations, is actually at grips with Communism on the battlefields of Korea. This is not a matter of academic discussion, but a cold and serious proposition that must be faced with reality. All in all, the decisions to be taken on the direction in which Allied preparedness will be brought mainly to bear could not be graver. It is to be hoped that profound wisdom and sound judgment will form their core. The issues at stake are immeasurably greater than the personalities concerned in what has become the MacArthur affair.

New Incentive to Oil Production in B.C.

REPORTS of probable increases in gasoline and oil prices in British Columbia in the near future emphasize more strongly than ever the desirability of speeding up the piping of crude from Canadian wells to the refineries and markets of this province. The price increases, if or when they are applied, will be brought about by increased freight rates on crude brought by oil tanker from California. Under a statute amendment at the recent session of the British Columbia Legislature, designed largely to encourage production at home, any rise in production or distribution costs can be passed to consumers without reference to the provincial authority which formerly regulated prices.

Higher prices for California supplies, therefore, should act as a spur not only to the development of British Columbia outlets for Alberta oil, which already has brought down prices east of the wells, but also—and still more profitably to this province—to exploration for the oil known to exist in British Columbia itself. An important step towards that end was taken by the Legislature a few weeks ago when it substantially eased many of the too-restrictive sections of the British Columbia Petroleum and Natural Gas Act for the express purpose of stimulating active exploration and assisting industry to get production started through the extension of credits.

New Zealand Strike Contains Grim Warning

NEW ZEALAND'S waterside workers given to striking on the slightest provocation—and sometimes with no apparent provocation at all—are continuing their stranglehold on the economy of the southern Dominion. Latest official word from Wellington affords little hope of an early settlement of a work stoppage which has dragged on for many anxious weeks and has virtually tied up all ports of an island country whose shipping lanes are its lifeline.

Sympathy stoppages now assume as serious proportions as those of the original strike. Seamen at the four main ports have refused to man any ships, and have been supported by the cooks and stewards. In consequence the trans-Tasman line, which maintained a vital connection between New Zealand and Australia, has had to suspend operations, and inter-island connections have been curtailed to a skeleton service with ships manned by officers.

That this strike was inspired and is being kept going by Communist agents is beyond question, and as an illustration of the paralyzing effects of subversive control over the seaports it is causing New Zealanders grave concern. The Returned Soldiers' Association, counterpart of the Canadian Legion, has called for a firm stand against "the forces and agents of subversion," and Prime Minister Holland this week issued a stern "no mercy" warning to anyone found guilty of the intimidating tactics to which he has attributed the prolongation of the strike. For all this, the strike leaders remain defiant.

Canada has had its own bitter experience of Communist-provoked shipping strikes in recent years, and this further reminder of a nation's vulnerability to attack from within, through its channels of commerce, may be timely, reinforcing efforts to clear Communists out of the ships and ports of the country.

"Hold Everything Again!"

Nostalgia

By FRANK KELLEY

AMONG the more prominent business premises of Victoria 60 years ago were those occupied by E. G. Prior and Brackman & Ker. Prior's was on the northeast corner of Government and Johnson Streets, and "B. & K." was right next to it. The Prior building was devoted entirely to hardware of all descriptions, while the premises of its next door neighbor included—beside the ground floor, which was a warehouse for the firm's favorite Victoria breakfast food, which the town grew up on—two other floors given over to entirely different activities.

One floor up was quite an extensive sail-making "loft"; for those were the days when sailing vessels were frequent callers here in the lumber and salmon trades and Victoria had a fleet of wind-driven craft roaming the North Pacific for fur-seals, so that, as Kipling put it "Our women must walk gay and money buys their gear." The top floor was the home of a group of young men athletically inclined and always ready to put on exhibitions for town charities and feature their clever work on Queen's Birthday displays and Fall Fair programs.

* * *

And those boys were quite good, too. I just cannot remember them all; but they aimed, among other things, to show themselves in most of the popular acts produced by circus and vaudeville troupes. Adding to the eye-appeal of their skilled "turns" was the detail with which they costumed the acts with up-to-date dressing, tights and spangle adornments, just like professionals.

Names of some of those athletically inclined Victorians of 60 years ago who provided entertainment for the citizens of the town do not come too easy, but among top performers were Otto and Joe Weiler, Fred Gouge, Len Oliver and Dick Balls. Their stunts included tight-rope and slack-wire walking, trapeze, horizontal and parallel bars, tumbling, and flying rings.

Dan MacLeod, world - champion wrestler in the "catch-as-catch-can" style was a frequent "work-outer" there; and if memory serves me right Matsaida Sorachi, who was to attain considerable international reputation as an exponent of Japanese styles, was extended the club's hospitality for the same purpose. I saw MacLeod and Sorachi in an exhibition of what wrestling ought to be there one night, when, if the reward was not a Police Gazette Championship belt, there was still plenty of "pep" while it lasted.

* * *

To the regret of a lot of Victorians that club closed its doors about 1892-93. That was when Harry Bechtel, whose father was the proprietor of the California Hotel here, had ambitions to be a fight promoter. He rented the top floor of the "B. & K." building, installed punching bags, put down floor canvases and wrestling mats, then went out and sold membership cards. He gained quite a following for a time, developed some nice fighters locally—like Harry Dodd, later Provincial Police constable and Government Agent in northern parts of the province—and imported some good Pacific Coast talent to put on shows in Philharmonic Hall and elsewhere.

Great attractions, which didn't cost the young promoter a shilling, had to do with extending the privileges of this club to traveling pugilists. Those were the days when the champions really moved about the country with their dramatic offerings. Most of the fistic greats of that era found their way to that top floor, punched the bag a bit or just showed themselves. Among those I saw there were John L. Sullivan, Peter Jackson, Bob Fitzsimmons, Jim Corbett and Jack Dempsey, the "nonpareil."

Reporting From Ottawa

THE Government's prescription to cure inflation was restated in succinct terms by Finance Minister Abbott the other day: "Work harder and longer."

Assessing their own personal problems of making ends meet, a lot of people have realized that is the only solution. However, their ideas don't coincide exactly with those of the Finance Minister.

What Abbott means is that everyone should work harder and longer at his or her job, so he or she individually will produce or help to produce more goods and services, while at the same time receiving essentially the same amount of money.

On the other hand, the individual considering his own personal problem sees the solution as getting more money to cope with higher prices. He agrees to "work harder and longer," but he means to get more money for it. He may seek higher wages, or part-time work to supplement his regular income. But inasmuch as he spends his additional income instead of saving it, he won't be helping win the battle against inflation.

If everybody got more money for working harder, with their incomes increasing in ratio to their added production, inflation would still be as bad as ever. There would still be too many dollars chasing too few goods—which is the root cause of all our inflationary troubles.

Abbott's "work harder and longer" really means "accept a reduced standard of living" until the amount of goods and services equals present demand. Then prices will level off and inflation will be licked.

* * *

Quotable quotes: Finance Minister Abbott, "What we need is purse control, not price control" . . . Progressive Conservative Leader George Drew, "The consumer who hoards goods and goes in for panic buying, the producer who cynically exploits that panic, the manufacturer who tries to get the largest profit he can out of the demand for scarce supplies are all germ carriers of the dangerous disease of inflation" . . . C.C.F. Leader M. J. Coldwell, "If Stalin has a secret weapon today, it is inflation" . . . Social credit Leader Solon Low, "This shivering skeleton, the thing we call a dollar, is having a hard time today to buy more than 50 cents worth of anything" . . . The Hartland, N.B., Observer, "A serious impediment to marriage nowadays is the increasing difficulty of supporting the Government and a wife at the same time."

* * *

Some folks here like as the "Best Budget Story of 1951" the one about how newsman H. H. C. "Torchy" Anderson campaigned for years to have the "iniquitous" tax on cigarette papers abolished. When it was removed, Finance Minister Abbott thought Anderson, who "rolled his own," would be pleased. But no—Anderson had quit smoking.

However, my favorite story concerns the M.P. who, a year ago, would have been as pleased as punch that liquor had escaped additional taxation.

But now he's on the waggon. And he told the Commons that "it is utter nonsense not to tax alcohol and to tax cigarettes. I do not think that meets with the approval of even 10 per cent of the people of Canada."

Nor was that all. A heavy smoker, he told the House that after the tax increase was announced, but before it went into effect, he had immediately bought "every cigarette I could possibly lay my hands on."

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

ANY day now you may see in your backyard a strange bird, maybe gay, maybe quite drab; but, strange. If nothing else attracts your interest in it, think for a minute where it has just come from. And how.

At 25 miles per hour, it may have just come from Brazil. Flying only at night, with nothing to guide it but blind instinct, and resting and feeding by day, last week in Kentucky, the week before in Texas, and the week [illegible] visitor to your garden may have come straight to you from Peru.

The first nighthawk you hear tweeting in the evening sky—consider him. He is a slow, erratic traveler, feeding as he goes. But he happens to be one of the most contemptuous of all creatures of this solid round earth and the majesty of its distances. The nighthawks of Alaska migrate, circling and tweeting, 7,000 miles to the Argentine for their Winter. And now come all the way back. The one over your head has just done 6,000. He may rest on your roof.

Nineteen species of water birds nest north of the Arctic Circle. If you live near a lake, you will shortly be able to see some of them quietly resting along the beaches. They are worth a glance from you. Because you are seeing, possibly, one of the six of these nineteen species which travel from the Arctic to the Antarctic Circle twice each year, 8,000 miles south in Autumn, 8,000 miles north now in Spring.

They think nothing of it. They weigh less than your hand. When they go south that 8,000 miles, most of them are not four months old.

From this week until mid-May, thousands upon thousands of birds will come pelting past you, over your head, in the night. Maybe 10,000 will pass within a couple of miles of you. From the wild goose and swan down to mites no bigger than your thumb, the travelers are hustling home.

Sanctuary

IS it actually impossible to win the war in Korea so long as Communist forces enjoy what General MacArthur called "privileged sanctuary" across the Yalu River in Manchuria?

Evidently Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, who is assuming command of the Eighth Army in the field, does not believe the inhibitions against U.N. bombing in Manchuria impose insuperable odds. As head of the United States Army Group in Greece from 1948 to 1950, he helped to direct campaigns which ultimately drove Communist guerrilla armies out of Greece though they drew strength from retreats into Bulgaria.

U.N. soldiers in Korea, it is true, have faced enormous superiority of numbers on the part of Chinese, yet this has been extensively offset by mechanized firepower and transport. In addition they have had the benefit of complete air supremacy over their own lines, the enemy lines, and for more than 100 miles behind his lines.

Moreover, American and other U.N. forces profit from a kind of sanctuary of their own in the fact that they can draw supplies and reinforcements from Japan without interference, and can use that country as a staging area and repair base. Movement across Chosen Strait might be rendered hazardous if bombardment of Manchuria should cause Soviet Russia to unleash air and submarine strength from Vladivostok and other Siberian bases.

Definitely there is need for a more vigorous U.N. policy toward Korea aimed at turning relative stalemate into positive victory. But this may hinge more on the recruitment of additional troops from a greater number of U.N. countries than on the two-edged question of "sanctuary" from air bombardment.

Music Comes High

It cost $1,033,800 to run the New York Philharmonic Symphony Orchestra in the Winter season soon closing. The receipts from all sources totaled $884,000, leaving a net deficit of $149,800. The conductors and players were paid $534,000.

It seems significant that the millions of people who listen to the Sunday afternoon broadcasts felt called upon to contribute only $59,000 to the voluntary radio membership.

A REJOINDER

Sir,—With reference to Mr. Brown's letter in your issue headed "And Brickbats."

May I point out that Mr. Brown made the disgraceful omission of "jellied eels" when describing his idea of Utopia.

Old England was a good place to live—but Blackpool in 1951! Well, is there any need to say more?

JOHN A. MEADE.

A SUGGESTION

Sir,—With reference to Mr. T. S. Brown's letter, may I suggest that, among the many attractions of Victoria which he has omitted to mention, there is an excellent C.P.R. office on Government Street where I am sure he can obtain a single ticket to England.

DEMOS—THE PEOPLE

Sir,—I hear by the radio than the session has thrown out the petition re the hospital insurance after ruling it "out of order." Well, that can work two ways. The public signed this petition. This would mean, then, that the public is out of order. The public put the Government in. It can take it out, too . . . throw it out . . . and rule it out of order.

There is a word we throw around a great deal. That word is "Democracy." The dictionary says this about "democracy": "A government by the people directly; a government so conducted; the mass of the people; the principles of the Democratic Party, or its members collectively." Democracy is a word derived from the Greek "demokratia"—demos, people.

And so it goes . . . all meaning the same, all saying the same thing . . . people. Well, we're people, but we're not running the Government. We put it there, and there it all ends. We're not living in a democracy . . . we're living in a dream, and a bad one at that. The Government is running us; herding us like sheep; dictating to us . . . the people . . . with the words "or else" at the end of everything they say. . . .

A BOUQUET

Sir,—I resent your correspondent's bitter attack on Victoria. Whether one likes Victoria, or any other place for that matter, is merely a question of personal taste and mode of living.

Many people can find ample pleasure and amusement in life without recourse to public houses, music halls, etc., and in consequence do not find Victoria dead by any means. I do not suppose that there is a country or place in this world that appeals to everybody in every way, but surely the ever-increasing tourist traffic to Victoria is sufficient evidence that there are numerous attractions in this beautiful city and Island. High prices prevail in all countries, but the higher wage and lower taxes in Canada still enables the average family to live a far better life than in England today.

In the course of traveling, I have yet to find a place which more reminds me of the Old Country than Victoria, and I have never met so many charming, kindly and well-behaved people.

I am grateful to record that, since leaving England three years ago, I have enjoyed the happiest years of my life. I neither desired, nor expected, my life in Canada and Victoria to be just like England. Otherwise I should have kept where I was.

Too Solid Flesh

(From Public Opinion, London)

"HOW long is't, Jack, since thou saw'st thine own knee?" Prince Hal asked of Falstaff. Fifty thousand presumably plump Joans have tried to forestall any such future question by sending a stamped addressed envelope to the B.B.C. Television Service asking for a slimming diet sheet that was being offered to women.

But, on medical advice, the B.B.C. have withdrawn the sheet. They are left with an unwanted windfall of 50,000 2½d. stamps which they do not know how to dispose of, but which may go to the Wireless for the Blind Fund. The nation is left with a substantial proportion of its population excited by press, radio and over-the-fence conversations into an absorbing interest in jettisoning the fat that years of austerity have laid on their figures.

Though reputable physicians may have influenced the B.B.C. to discourage unsupervised dieting, equally famous doctors have published simple sheets in the press. Women—and men, too—seem to sheer away from the obvious slimming regimen of cutting out bread and potatoes. They want to do it the tasty way. Meanwhile we are cursed with another coy description of the rigorous and disquieting business of shedding fat. It is "girth control".

Fun, Fact and Fiction

Peron denies that the remaining newspapers in Argentina are no good, and he's probably right. They are doubtless useful for wrapping a fish.

A nickel for a year's membership in U.N., as paid by Paraguay, works out about right, if you allow the counter-claim of $200 an hour for listening to Gromyko or Malik.

"Was there anything else you had in mind, Mrs. Green?" inquired the grocer. "Well," confessed the recent bride, "I'm late already, but do you have anything in the refrigerator department that will unfreeze in five minutes?"

A United States court finds a wife's dieting no ground for divorce. A man of honor will of course stick by her through reasonably thick and fashionably thin.

A buffalo nickel, says a Washington numismatist, is worth five cents. Which brings us to the second part of the question: What is five cents worth?

HANDYMAN

The fourth grade was discussing oil. "What does your father do," inquired the teacher, "if your mother complains about a squeaking door?"

"He takes it off the hinges," replied the lad with freckles, "and puts it out in the garage."

Looking Back

Through Colonist Files

25 YEARS AGO—There is considerable building activity in Oak Bay. Eight houses are under construction at costs ranging from $2,000 to $5,000, and it is expected that permits for two more will be taken out soon.

50 YEARS AGO—Two steamers sailed last night for Skagway, crammed with miners and carrying exceptionally heavy cargoes for Atlin, Whitehorse, Dawson and other northern points.

85 YEARS AGO—A schooner which arrived yesterday from a trading voyage along the West Coast of the Island brings word that trade on the coast is very dull, the Indians being too well off to work.

President Truman moved in WASHINGTON yesterday to help maintain the United States lead in the weapon developments race with Russia. With that aim in mind, he set up a new advisory board of top atomic-hydrogen bomb scientists.

Dr. Oliver C. Buckley stepped down as president of Bell Telephone Laboratories to become chairman of the board, which will work with mobilization agencies in pushing "top-secret" research in the field of advanced nuclear fission.

Work of the board will be similar to that of the wartime Office of Scientific Research and Development, which played a key role in developing the A-bomb.

Addressing Big Four deputies in PARIS, Andrei Gromyko said yesterday Russia would not be responsible if the deputies failed to arrange a foreign ministers' conference. He said Russia "looks in vain" for some effort on the part of the Western powers to meet Russia's point of view.

In OTTAWA John Diefenbaker (P.C., Lake Centre) urged the Government to rid Canada of a "galloping" inflation which threatens to drive the country's defence costs to "bankruptcy heights." "We can't fight Stalin with a 58-cent dollar," he told the Commons in a budget debate.

* * *

A dispatch from HONG KONG says continued omission of Mao Tze-tung's name from Chinese Communist propaganda announcement lends credence to an indirect report that the Communist leader may be ill and shunted aside.

* * *

Canada's Indian bands, Citizenship Minister Harris told the Indian Committee of Commons in OTTAWA yesterday, have, collectively, $20,000,000 in the bank, drawing 5 per cent interest. The money, he said, had come from sale of surrendered land, from royalties from oil and timber rights, and the like.

* * *

A war of words in WASHINGTON over Gen. Douglas MacArthur's policies ended in a shoving match yesterday for three United States Senators. The three were Senator Homer Capehart (R., Ind.), Senator Hubert Humphrey (D., Minn.) and Senator Herbert Lehman (D. Lib., N.Y.).

* * *

[illegible] yesterday heard External Affairs Minister L. B. Pearson brand the Canadian Peace Congress as "the agent of a foreign, aggressive imperialism, although some of its members might not know it."

* * *

Authoritative sources in OTTAWA say that a United States vehicle company has finally dropped opposition to the use of its patents for a jeep production program in Canada. This means that one of the big hurdles has been crossed in development of an extensive military vehicle production program in Canada, linked to the over-all, three-year, $5,000,000,000 defence effort.

From WASHINGTON comes word that the United States Navy has awarded Silver Star medals for gallantry to eight men in the South Korean Navy—first such honors to members of that country's naval forces.

Back in OTTAWA, a brief presented on behalf of the Six Nations Indian Confederacy describes the newly-revised Indian Act as "tyranny," and urges that the Confederacy be excluded from its provisions.

Provincial Government officials in EDMONTON claim that 75 Alberta trap lines and two timber berths will be eliminated by establishment of a $14,000,000 super-bombing and rocket range on the Alberta-Saskatchewan border 100 miles north of Lloydminster.

WINNIPEG City Council has called for a referendum on the power question, throwing into doubt the outcome of the Manitoba Government's plan to reorganize the province's hydro-electric industry.

From PHILADELPHIA comes word that the 200-inch telescope on Mount Palomar, Calif., has discovered three new "lighthouses" in the heavens. These "lighthouses" are stars whose brightness tells how far away they are. Consequently the new discoveries will be yardsticks to measure accurately the size of the Universe.

Three Plays Win Honors In Festival

"Toad of Toad Hall," "Pygmalion" and "The Marriage Proposal," the three best plays of the 1951 Victoria Schools Drama Festival, will be presented tonight at Victoria High School.

Selected by Mrs. Phoebe Smith, adjudicator, as the best and most representative of the 20 plays staged, the three are productions of both elementary and high schools.

"Toad of Toad Hall" is a product of the junior students of Norfolk House School for Girls. "Pygmalion" is presented by Oak Bay High School and "The Marriage Proposal" by Esquimalt High School.

The plays were selected last night at Oak Bay High School following the last three plays of the regular festival series.

"TRIBUTE"

Mount Newton High School's production of "Good Night Caroline" was described by Mrs. Smith as "a tribute to the director and the cast." Ron Anfield, the stealthy-footed burglar of the play kept up the actors' creed of "the show must go on" by going through with his part despite a broken nose, suffered earlier in the day, during a soccer game. The husband and wife team of Caroline and Alfred was played by Mary Hoyt and Ron Karadimas, with Bernice Liddiard in the role of Selma, the maid.

Leads in "The Inn of the Clustered Stars," a drama touched with humor, were taken by Thomas Williams and Albert Wallis in the roles of Professor Tolley and Frank Holden. Other students from Mount Douglas High School included in the cast were Mary Cairns, Donna Verquin, Ralph Russell, Doreen Drury, May Webb and Eileen Gilhen.

CHARACTER STUDY

Ralph Russell, in the role of the landlord, was especially praised by Mrs. Smith for "the interesting character study made from an insignifigant role."

Oak Bay High School's second presentation in the festival, "Two Crooks and a Lady," was described by Mrs. Smith as "a well-knit play; the teamwork among the actors was magnificent."

The two crooks, Miller and Lucille, were played by Kenneth Pryke and Patti Jones. The lady, a shrewd, almost totally paralyzed woman, was played by Norma Greig. Supporting roles were taken by Tanis Monteith, Daniel Francis and Alan Richardson.

Curtain time for the honor performances tonight is 8 o'clock.

Seven Fires Controlled On Island

Fifty-nine fire fighters have seven forest fires under control in the Langford Fire District, Forestry Department officials reported yesterday.

"The situation remains hazardous in the open areas," said an official. "People should be extremely careful over the week-end. Every precaution against fire should be taken."

Meanwhile, the weather offered no help. No rain has been predicted.

Fires in the Langford district were at Harris Creek, where two small blazes were reported, one at Becher Bay, one at Poirier Lake, two on the Malahat and one at Goldstream. Two spot fires were extinguished.

Other B.C. fires were: 30 in the Vancouver District, eight at Chilliwack, two at Harrison Lake, one near Mission, two at Squamish, two at Sechelt, one at Pender Harbor, and one on Cortez Island. Most are under control.

Veterans' Aid In Education Nears Finish

OTTAWA, April 20 (CP).—The postwar program of university education for veterans is coming to a close, it was indicated today in a survey by the Bureau of Statistics.

Enrollment in universities and colleges at the start of the present school year is estimated at 68,000. This compared with a peak of about 83,000 three years ago. The latest figure still includes about 7,000 veterans who are receiving educational benefits from the Veterans' Department.

However, universities are still crowded compared with prewar days. Even excluding veterans, enrollment is about 70 per cent higher than ten years ago.

In 1940-41 the total for all Canada was about 36,000.

Undergraduates in the arts and science courses declined to 28,363 in 1950-51 from 31,246 in the preceding academic year. In engineering and applied science, enrollments declined to 8,047 from 10,549, and in agriculture to 1,701 from 2,283. Enrollments in medicine were 4,395 against 4,284.

Wood to Conduct Ritchie Inquiry

Mr. Justice H. S. Wood, of the Supreme Court of British Columbia, will conduct the inquiry into the case of Mrs. Donald Ritchie, who, it is alleged, lost her unborn baby because she was not admitted to a hospital in Vancouver.

This announcement was made Thursday by Premier Byron Johnson.

Earlier, the Premier and Health and Welfare Minister Douglas Turnbull had stated an inquiry would be made so that all facts could be made available.

Huge Airlift Job

Arctic Weather Stations Receive Year's Supplies

OTTAWA, April 20 (CP).—Canada and the United States have just completed the annual Spring job of resupplying their jointly-operated weather stations in the Arctic, it was announced today.

Two R.C.A.F. and two U.S.A.F. transport aircraft handled the job.

The Arctic weather stations are jointly operated by the meteorological services of the Canadian Transport Department and the U.S. Weather Bureau. They are manned by equal numbers of personnel from each government. Personnel are changed approximately once a year, at either the Spring or Fall airlift.

In addition to carrying weather station personnel in and out of these northern outposts, the transport planes carry food, equipment and mail.

HUNDREDS OF TONS

The aircraft operated out of Resolute Bay on Cornwallis Island, and flew hundreds of tons of freight from there to the weather stations. Most of the freight went to Mould Bay on Prince Patrick Island and to Isaachsen on Isaachsen Island, 100 tons or more being flown in each case. Lesser amounts were flown to Alert and Eureka, both on Ellesmere Island.

R.C.A.F. commitments were handled by two North Stars from Lachine, near Montreal, operating under Air Transport Command. These took off April 13 for Resolute, encountered good weather conditions and completed their trips to the weather stations well within schedule.

The U.S.A.F. Northeast Air Command, with headquarters at Pepperrell Air Force Base at St. John's, Newfoundland, was responsible for U.S.A.F. commitments, and two C-54 aircraft handled this mission.

A SYDNEY dispatch states that Australia has ended its trials of Japanese accused of war crimes. In all, 156 Japanese have been sentenced to death for crimes against Australian servicemen. Of these, 143 have been hanged. A total of 902 suspects faced trial, 623 were convicted.

Culbertson on Bridge

(Copyright, 1951, by Ely Culbertson)

A correspondent has sent in the following appeal: "Will you please help me get even with a friend (?) of mine who had me tearing my hair out over a bridge hand? He gave me a problem hand where the declarer was supposed to make a grand slam against any defence, and I was up all night trying to discover the key.

"I am a regular reader of your column and this friend is not; so if you will publish a baffling hand I may be able to even up the score."

How can anyone turn a deaf ear to such a pitiful appeal? Herewith is a hand that is guaranteed to give any one insomnia.

The vulnerability and the bidding do not matter, since this is a double-dummy problem. In actual play East-West would have to be Milquetoasts to let South buy the contract at four spades, but, for the purposes of our problem, it is assumed that South is declarer at a four-spade contract and that West leads the queen of clubs. The question then is simply this: Can South win ten tricks against the best defence; and if so, how?

South can collect the necessary ten tricks, but it takes some doing! Two different "key plays" are involved. Moreover, the deal presents the startling curiosity that, with four apparently sure losers in the red suits, South must immediately create another loser for himself in order to end up with only three losers!

The winning play goes like this: Dummy wins the first trick with the club ace, and South must unblock his own king! South then draws three rounds of trumps, cashes the heart and diamond aces (extracting West's red cards) and then throws West in with a club.

On West's forced club return, a heart is thrown from dummy while South discards a diamond. On the next club lead dummy gets rid of the last heart, and South the last diamond. South has now lost three tricks, but he is in a perfect position. On West's next lead, South can claim the contract via a cross-ruff.

Will Offer Briefs On Compensation

Approximately 30 personal briefs are scheduled for presentation before Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan, commissioner inquiring into the Workmen's Compensation Act, when the one-man commission resumes hearings in Victoria, Monday.

Complainants wishing to interview commission counsel J. W. Heffernan may do so between 9 and 10:30 a.m. in his office at the Legislative Buildings.

Radio Actress Wins Fellowship

Dorothy Davies, CBR radio actress at Vancouver, formerly of Victoria, has been awarded an elocution fellowship by Trinity College, London.

The award is made for an exceptionally high standard of voice and speech in lyric and dramatic literature and for excellence in impromptu speaking.

Miss Davies is a former student of the Victoria School of Expression.

Jean Lesage, Parliamentary assistant to External Affairs Minister Pearson, told the House of Commons in OTTAWA yesterday that there are 370 Canadians in China, of whom 332 are missionaries and their dependents.

Informed sources in WASHINGTON said last night that Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston will announce a new pricing policy today, calling for a profit limit based on an earnings standard.

London Market Moving Higher

LONDON, April 20 (Reuters)—Despite the approach of the week-end, the London Stock Exchange today barely paused in its upward movement. Interest was generally at a high level by a bumper dividend from Vickers, shipbuilding and engineering holding company. It declared 12½ per cent for the year against 6% per cent.

Vickers spurted 7s 6d at 54s but later reacted to about 52s 9d. Textiles, tobaccos and other engineerings made fresh progress.

British Government funds were uncertain most of the day but showed occasional small gain at the close.

Oils were barely steady but tins were firmer on moderate demand. Selected gold hardened on local buying, and firmness was again widespread in coppers.

Stock closings: Babcock & Wilcox, 75s; Boots Pure Drug, 49s 6d; Canadian Pacific, 51¾; Central Mining, 62¾; Consolidated Gold Fields, 53s 1½d; Courtaulds, 44s; Hudson's Bay Co., 105s; Imperial Chemical, 49s 7½d; Imperial Tobacco, 98s 9d; Metal Box, 48s 9d; Mexican Eagle, 12s 4½d ex-dividend; Rand Mines, 14s 6d.

Bonds: British 2½% Consols, (86½); British 2½% War Loans, (96⅝); British Fundings 4's, 1960-1990, (103¾).

Foreign Exchange

NEW YORK, April 20 (CP)—The Canadian dollar was unchanged at a discount of 6 per cent in terms of United States funds in closing foreign exchange dealings today. The pound sterling was unchanged at $2.80¼.

A's Have Busy Day Awaiting Weather

Victoria Club Impressive in Workout But Competition Will Show Real Stuff

By JIM TANG

SPOKANE, April 20.—Marking time as Spokane officials hopefully waited for the weather to become more seasonable, Victoria Athletics put in a busy day today. They participated in a parade through downtown Spokane in the early afternoon, were guests at a luncheon held by the Spokane Baseball Boosters, and then braved the still chilly breeze for a brisk workout, which included infield drill as well as batting practice and the usual running and pepper games.

While it will take actual competition to prove what the new members of the club can do, they did look impressive in the workout. At first base, Hal Jackson backed up those who predicted he will make Victoria fans forget Vic Buccola. The lean and lanky Californian, who has a preference for Texas and came to Spokane looking every bit a cowboy in range attire which suited his sparse build, left no doubts about his defensive ability at the first sack.

SPEEDY, ACCURATE

At third base, Don Pries, aptly named "Iron Claw" by manager Dick Barrett, lived up to the designation as he grabbed everything hit his way and fired the ball around the infield with speed and accuracy. Victoria fans are likely to see excellent work around the hot corner station for the first time in six seasons.

Milt Martin, who came in last night, proved to be a pleasant surprise even though his advance notices were good. The powerfully-built young catcher handled himself in a manner which indicates that Lillo Marcucci is going to have to hit in the higher brackets if he is to keep his first-string berth.

There were other pleasing features, notably the clouting of the A's in batting practice. It was no coincidence that manager Alan Strange and owner Roy Hotchkiss of the Spokane club were wearing thoughtful looks after watching the Victoria batsmen bang them all over Ferris Field.

LOADED

"You're loaded," they told Victoria business manager Reg Patterson.

Line-up changes for tomorrow's delayed opener were being contemplated by the opposing managers. Dick Barrett will stick to his pitching selections, with Ron Smith going in the afternoon game. Jim Hedgecock getting the call under the lights, and Dick Waibel and Jim Propst set for Sunday's games.

The Indians expect to have Mel Wasley — veteran obtained from Salem for league batting champion Glen Stetter—in the right field, and will use John Conrad and Dick Bishop on the mound tomorrow, and Jim Holder and Ward Rockey, both holdovers, facing the A's, Sunday.

Diamond Dust: Jackson had a particular reason for wanting to remain in the Coast League with Portland Beavers. His dad is confined to bed with a serious illness and can only follow baseball by television. Tex did want to get into action so the elder Jackson could see him play . . . The A's are still awaiting the arrival of their new uniforms, lost somewhere in transit, and may have to take the field tomorrow in a sartorial condition not befitting a club which believes to the last man it is pennant bound . . .

BETTER LIGHT

The lighting at Ferris Field has been improved during the off-season and the park appears in first class condition . . . Dick Waibel, the strong, young and good looking right hander, is exempt from military duty. Two older brothers were killed overseas in the World War . . . Barrett believes 20-year-old Frank Chase has a baseball future. "He has a big-league arm" is Barrett's verdict on the youngster. He was nicknamed "Carbonated" because of his ability to drink pop . . . Tom O'Laughlin was all set to quit baseball this year and sent a telegram to Patterson stating his intention. Patterson never received it, but was persuasive in a telephone call from Santa Rosa and the pleasant Irishman, "County Cork" to Barrett, admitted he always had a "hankering to see that country up there" . . . Gene Thompson reported 24 pounds lighter than last year and appears ready for his biggest season.

NOTE TO GIRLS

A special note to Victoria's young feminine fans: Most of the A's are unmarried and this is not only the biggest club but also the best-looking. More than one of the new members are likely to set hearts aflutter ring . . . John Marshall's brothers are both in the services. Ernie, who had a trial with A's last Spring is in Sicily with the U.S. Air Force while Clarence, one-time New York Yankee, is stationed at Fort Lewis . . . Another note to feminine fans: Bill White is the same fellow who was with the A's in 1947 . . . Ron Smith, expected to have a big season, had a great Winter season. Playing for Rosabell Plumbers in the strong California Winter League, Smith won more than 15 games without losing and includes five or more shutouts among his victories.

Caps, Solons Triumph In Openers

Vancouver Capilanos and Salem Senators posted victories as the Western International Baseball League opened on two fronts last night.

The Caps whipped Wenatchee Chiefs, 9-4, before a chilled Wenatchee crowd of 1,372 that braved 20-degree temperature.

The Chiefs garnered 11 hits from the offerings of Bob Snyder but committed eight bobbles to lead to their downfall. Two of the errors came in the ninth inning and paved the way for Vancouver's winning five-run rally. Three runs scored when Bill Schuster's bounder went through shortstop Larry Neal's legs and out to centre field where Lil Arnerich also booted the ball.

Aldon Wilkie, former Victoria southpaw, took the defeat as the Senators survived a ninth-inning uprising to defeat Tri-City, 9-6, before a crowd of 4,200 at Salem.

St. Michael's in Final After Crushing Quakers

TORONTO, April 20 (CP). — The powerful Toronto St. Michael's Monarchs moved into the Alexander Cup finals tonight with a handy 9-3 victory over Saskatoon Quakers. Monarchs won the best-of-seven series in four straight games.

Monarchs will meet either Valleyfield Braves or Sydney Millionaires for the Canadian major hockey championship.

The smooth-skating Toronto squad, which boasts 11 members of last year's Los Angeles Monarchs, made it look easy in the final period as they blasted in six unanswered goals, all of them beating netminder Jackie Gibson cleanly.

Johnny Ubriaco and Bill McCracken led the winners with two goals each. Singles went to Gord Hannigan, Ken Watson, Sam Kennedy, Eddie Mulligan and Dusty Blair. Bob Wiest, team captain Charlie McCullough and Cy Rouse accounted for the Saskatoon goals.

A slim crowd of some 2,168 fans nearly went wild when Wiest put Quakers into a 1-0 lead at 8:43 of the first period. However, Monarchs blasted back and tallied two counters by the 15-minute mark. Rouse got the equalizer seconds before the period ended.

LEAD AGAIN

Saskatoon went into the lead again in the second period when McCullough leveled a short drive past Phil Hughes in the Toronto nets. Mulligan got an unassisted goal at 8:24 to put the two teams on even ground.

Then came the disastrous third period. Quakers had trouble clearing and Monarchs pounced on the loose puck time and again to barge in on the Saskatoon nets.

Quakers missed the valuable services of George Senick, who injured his ankle in an accident after Wednesday's game here.

Hughes was, as usual, terrific in the Toronto nets. He turned back numerous Saskatoon sharpshooters as they scooted around his cage. He kicked out 24 shots. Gibson handled 32.

(From I.N.S. and A.P. Reports)

President Truman, booed twice by the fans, officially opened the baseball season yesterday as the Washington Senators took both ends of a day-night doubleheader from the New York Yankees, 5-3, 8-4.

The twin victory moved the Nats into first place in the American League and gave them their fourth straight win with no defeats.

Truman, making his first full-fledged public appearance since the Gen. Douglas MacArthur blow-up, reacted good-naturedly to the crowd's catcalls.

Five Yankee pitchers took a pattern from Truman's wild opening southpaw toss and combined to give the Senators 13 walks in the first game while allowing only two hits. Both hits came off Bob Porterfield, fourth Yankee hurler, in the seventh inning. Sandy Consuegra held the Bronx Bombers to four hits.

BREAK TIE

Gil Coan's triple highlighted a four-run uprising against rookie Tom Morgan that broke a 1-1 tie in the fifth inning of the night-cap. Al Sima held the Yanks in check except for Jackie Jensen's homer with one aboard in the ninth. Mickey Vernon led the Senator onslaught with a perfect night at the plate, driving in four runs with a triple, a double and two singles.

Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians each marked up their third successive victories. The White Sox blanked Detroit Tigers 5-0 behind the three-hit pitching of Randy Gumpert. The issue was settled in the third inning when the Tiger defence blew up. Bob Feller spread five hits as the Indians handed St. Louis Browns their third straight defeat 4-1.

Philadelphia Athletics ended two jinxes as they sent Boston Red Sox down to their third straight defeat. The A's triumphed 6-3 behind the four-hit pitching of Alex Kellner for their first victory at Fenway Park since September 12, 1948. The victory was at the expense of Mel Parnell, who had run up a string of ten consecutive triumphs over the A's.

FIRST WIN

In the National League, St. Louis Cardinals scored their first victory by whipping Chicago Cubs 5-1 to hand the Bruins their first setback and drop them into a second-place tie with Brooklyn.

The Dodgers spoiled the Polo Grounds opening for 30,870 fans by trimming New York Giants 7-3 behind the five-hit hurling of Don Newcombe.

Max Surkont, sophomore Boston right-hander, throttled Philadelphia Phils with two hits and drove in the winning run as the Braves edged the National League champions 2-1 at Philadelphia.

Barrett Really Can Look Up to His Team

By JIM TANG

SPOKANE, April 20. — Size isn't everything, but it is almost invariably true in sport that a good big man can beat a good little man. Off that theory, Victoria Athletics are going to cause a lot of anguish in the W.I.L. this season. They have probably the biggest group of athletes gathered on one league roster in many a year.

Although he was never inconspicuous in his 27-year baseball career, the colorful, roly-poly Dick Barrett will stand out like the proverbial sore thumb this season as he masterminds his young giants. Three or four inches—or more—under six feet, Barrett will only be able to see eye-to-eye with catcher Lillo Marcucci and will be almost on even terms vertically only with Marcucci and pitcher Warren Noyes. In more ways than one, the freshman manager has a ball club he can look up.

MOST SIX-FOOTERS

Including Barrett, there are 18 A's in Spokane and only Barrett, Noyes and Marcucci are less than five feet 11 inches tall. Twelve players are six feet or more on a club which averages almost six feet one inch in height and 187 pounds on the scales. Tallest man on the club is, of course, Bill White, five inches over the six-foot mark. Ron Smith is an inch shorter than White and an inch taller than first-baseman Hal Jackson. John Marshall and third baseman Don Pries are two inches over six feet.

The size of the A's is also evident on the scales. Only Jim Propst, the lightweight of the team at 155 pounds or thereabouts, Jim Hedgecock, Noyes and Gene Gaviglio, all close to the mark, are under 180 pounds. To Marshall, who admits to 220 pounds but who said that it is only the temporary condition, falls the honor, dubious or otherwise, of being the heaviest player on the club. White, at 215, and Smith at 207, are the other 200-pounders while Dick Waibel, at 197, and Barrett, at an undisclosed but obviously sizeable number of pounds, are up along the avoirdupois leaders.

NOT READY

As for Barrett, it seems unlikely that he will get into action on the mound for two or three weeks. Forced to act as trainer, clubhouse boy, batboy and manager at Spring training, he was unable to do much conditioning and is not yet ready to do any pitching. However, he claims he is now in a position to start working out, and he has never had much trouble getting his arm in condition, being one of those players who have not been over-bothered with an overly prominent waistline.

Barrett has made no announcement over plans for his own mound appearance but it is felt he will probably confine himself mainly to relief roles. If his staff comes through as indicated in shape, Barrett should prove invaluable in protecting a lead when one of his regulars falters in the late innings.

Dick Irvin to Become Master Coach Of Canadiens' Empire, Selke Says

MONTREAL, April 20 (CP).—Dick Irvin, completing his 11th season as coach of Montreal Canadiens, can sign for at least another two campaigns, General Manager Frank Selke made it plain today.

Praising the Regina resident highly for his work in molding the present team, Selke said an assistant could be provided so Irvin could become "the master coach of Canadiens' hockey empire."

Selke's statement said also that although Canadiens "find themselves on the brink of defeat" in the Stanley Cup final against Toronto Maple Leafs, "we are all very proud of our team."

Despite its desperate position of trailing Leafs 3-1 in games in the best-of-seven final, the team has played in "four sensational overtime games" and "with a bit of luck can still go on to win the Stanley Cup."

LAUDS ROCKET

Then he singled out Maurice (Rocket) Richard, Canadiens' brilliant right-wing star, for special praise:

"I would like Rocket Richard to know that I consider it an honor to be associated with him in hockey."

Irvin, whose work this season Selke called "the finest contribution to the coaching profession," had no immediate comment on the general manager's statement.

There was no indication as to what the job of assistant to Irvin would entail, or what the "master coach" position might mean.

Since Selke's regime began in 1946 he has built up junior hockey in Montreal and elsewhere in Quebec Province. Canadiens have farm clubs or working agreements with all minor professional leagues and with amateur organizations that extend into Western Canada.

NO HINT

From the coaching ranks of any of these organizations, or even from possible retirements in the present club, might come the assistant to 58-year-old Irvin. But Selke gave no hint.

Irvin, silver thatched, has been player and coach since before the Great War. He is a native of Hamilton, but has lived in Regina for many years.

From 1915 to 1926, except for army service, he played professional hockey as a forward in the Pacific Coast Hockey League and the Western Canada Hockey League, in the heyday of those organizations as professional leagues. From there he went to the Chicago Black Hawks for three years.

From 1931 to 1940 Irvin was coach of Toronto Leafs, winning the Stanley Cup in the 1931-32 campaign. He moved to Canadiens in 1940.

Toronto Fans Satisfied With Iron-Man Kennedy

TORONTO, April 20 (CP). — Montreal Canadiens can have Rocket Richard and his goal-scoring wizardry. Toronto hockey followers will settle for tenacious Ted Kennedy whose dogged centre-ice play has brought the Maple Leafs to within one game of their fourth Stanley Cup championship in five seasons.

Although Toronto fans look for their club to wind up things by carrying off the fifth game tomorrow, there is sound reason for Montreal victory hopes. All four games so far have been settled by one-goal margins in sudden-death overtime. Sid Smith, Kennedy and Harry Watson have pulled the overtime trigger for the Leafs. Richard got the home-run goal for the Canadiens.

ALL BUT TWO

Until Watson and Howie Meeker got the range for a goal apiece at Montreal last night, the 25-year-old Kennedy's line had scored all Toronto's goals in the series. He was the main factor in standing off the challenge from Boston Bruins in the semi-final series. Kennedy isn't the leading scorer—he has four goals and four assists in ten games—but he's been No. 1 Leaf all the way.

It's been the same way over the years. The Leafs went out in the semi-final round of cup play in 1944, Kennedy's rookie year. In 1945 his seven goals topped the individual scoring records as the Leafs won the cup. He missed most of the 1945-46 season with an early injury and his team failed to make the playoffs.

He was a mainstay for the Leafs in their three successive cup triumphs in 1947-48-49 and when he got hurt in semi-final play a year ago the team bowed out to Detroit Red Wings.

JOE WILLIAMS

Aloysius Jerome Egan didn't get to make the opening game in Detroit this time around. They must have missed him, too. For some 40 years the gay, able Irishman was part of the team, part of the town itself.

Who, in everybody asked him, went back to the days when the Fords, the Bennetts, the Fishers and other young industrialists were just beginning to hit pay dirt in the automotive field; but in those days he was more interested in developing a hop on his fast ball than perfecting a self-starting engine.

He didn't leave much of a heritage as a pitcher; it was as digger-upper and developer of raw talent that he will be remembered most. You can put him down as the best the game ever saw and nobody's going to make you pull back. Curiously, he specialized in home growns, seldom venturing beyond the Michigan state lines. He may have been the first to work it that way.

The list of players he brought in is as long as George Mikan's arm. Hal Newhouser, Art Houtteman, Ted Gray, Bill Pierce, Hoot Evers, Johnny Groth, Barney McCosky, Dick Wakefield. Fellows like that. He made deals in other ways that were to help the Tigers greatly. Like the ones for Dizzy Trout and George Kell.

He wouldn't take any credit for the Kell deal and actually he didn't have much coming, except that he was the man Connie Mack wanted to do business with in his hotel suite that warm May afternoon in '46. . . .

"If I didn't know Connie I would have to say he had been drinking," Egan remarked, blushing mentally at such irreverence.

Houtteman Was His Boy

Connie had stipulated there was to be no bargaining. It had to be Kell for McCosky even up, or there would be no deal. What he had no way of knowing was that the Tigers were so eager to get Kell, Egan has been instructed to add considerable cash. Three years later Kell was leading the league in hitting.

Nobody seemed to want Dizzy Trout when Egan took him for $15,000 from Indianapolis. And for several years nobody around Detroit could make the deal add up, either. But Egan was sure Trout could win in big time. "You can't rush these young fellows. You don't buy them as finished products. What you invest in is their future." Four years later Trout was a 20-game winner.

I heard of Art Houtteman at least two years before the Tigers gave him a uniform. He was still in high school when Egan was describing him as a right-handed Newhouser. . . . "He's got everything it takes. All he needs is time." . . . Egan used to go out to the school field and coach the youngster himself. Last season, after a late start, he won 19.

Wakefield was Egan's deepest disappointment. He had hoped that the strange young man who had started the bonus frenzy ($52,000 while still in college) might develop into his most celebrated find. For a while it looked as it might do just that, too. Wakefield came out of the Navy in midseason in '44 to hit .355 and carry the Tigers from seventh to first. That, however, was the last time he looked like a big leaguer.

Nobody will ever know how much Egan puzzled over what came to be known as his problem child, how many different approaches he tried. "Such a wonderful swing and such a poor mental attitude," he would groan. What made it all the harder to take was the great fondness he held for the likeable but unpredictable young man.

Newcastle Sees "Jinx" in Demands Of Authorities for Uniform Changes

LONDON, April 20 (CP).—Newcastle United has a ready-made alibi if it loses to Blackpool in the cup final at Wembley April 28.

The only chance of a setback, Newcastle officials insist, will be the possible influence of a jinx imposed by none other than the [illegible] authority of English professional soccer.

The so-called "jinx" came wrapped up in a request from the association that the team should trot out on the Wembley pitch before the gaze of some 100,000 spectators, wearing black stockings—without the traditional white top.

"Nothing doing," was the defiant reaction of Newcastle's director-manager, Stanley Seymour. "We have no intention of going into mourning before the game."

CAPS IT ALL

But that isn't the club's only grievance. Its officials and players have rebelled against the association's proposal that goalkeeper Jack Fairbrother should wear a white linen jockey cap with a green outside peak, just to add a bit of glamour to the final.

George Farm, Blackpool's goalie, has fallen in line with the idea, but Fairbrother prefers the battered and familiar cloth cap he has worn all season. He claims the long peak of the jockey cap blots out his view of high balls directed his way and believes as well it would be dangerous to other players.

Seymour said the club had no objection to its goalie wearing [illegible] presentation ceremony before the game. Fairbrother, however, would take along his lucky tweed cap no matter what the F.A. officials said.

"RIDICULOUS"

"The whole thing is ridiculous," he snapped. "What do they think this is—a football final or a pantomime?"

The game will mark Newcastle's eighth appearance in the long history of Association Cup finals. The team needs a victory to give it an even break on wins and losses. Its last triumph was against Arsenal in 1932.

Blackpool's only previous appearance was in 1948 when it lost to Manchester United 4-2.

This year's final will be handled by referee William Ling of Manchester, who served as linesman in the 1948 classic. Ling admitted he had probably been the most surprised man in England when he learned of his appointment.

"I didn't think I had a par[illegible] good season," he said. "Sometimes the reactions to my decisions made me feel that I was the only man in step in crowds of more than 50,000."

Promising Pitchers Key To Fortunes of Yakima

By GEORGE REDMOND

YAKIMA, April 20 (AP)—Here is a thumbnail size-up of the Yakima Bears, defending Western International League champions as they will appear in their opening game at Tacoma tomorrow.

Catching—Excellent, with Manager Bill Brenner in the best condition of his career.

Pitching—A promising but untried staff of youngsters bolstered by the veteran lefthanders Larry Powell and Ted Savarese, and righthander Ernie Domenichelli.

Infield—Completely new, with some doubt of the present guardians of first and third base being able to perform up to W.I.L. standards.

Outfield—Bill Andring and Jerry Zuvela, two of last year's outstanding rookies, will be in left and right, respectively, but Phil Steinberg, in centre, still must prove his ability to hit W.I.L. pitching. Rube Navarro, ex-University of California fullback, is the reserve.

The Bears could finish anywhere from first to last, depending, of course, on the young pitching staff which looked exceptionally promising during training season at Healdsburg, Calif. In Jack Thompson, six-foot-five-inch righthander from Poulin, Ga., the Bears have a pitcher whom scouts have tabbed the most promising of all the young pitchers they have seen in the California training camps.

SHOWS UP WELL

Tom Del Sarto, a husky southpaw, also has shown up exceptionally well. A year ago he was voted the outstanding high school player in the San Francisco area. The others include Dave Anderson, former University of California moundsman who showed well in the Arizona-West Texas League last season; Lester Maddox, Negro lefthander who won seven and lost two while pitching for Estevan, Canada, in 1950; Don Bedford, formerly of Oregon State who was with Riverside, Calif., in the Sunset League for a short time, and the three veterans already named.

Will Tiesiera, a fine receiver who batted .259 for Yakima last season, will be Brenner's relief in the catching department. In training camp he gave indications of returning to the hitting form which gave him a .307 average in the Pioneer League in 1949.

INFIELD

The infield at the start will be Charlie Neal, left-handed all-around, who played with Los Angeles City College for the last three seasons, at first; Barney Serrell, willowy left-handed-hitting second-sacker with the Kansas City Monarchs in the Negro American League last season; Mike Baxes, up from the Pioneer League for a second trial, at shortstop, and Bob Moniz, a third baseman who can hit but has been erratic in the field during the training camp games.

Serrell, a veteran who has played in the Mexican National League, could well be one of the outstanding performers, both at bat and in the field, in the W.I.L. Baxes is taller and heavier than a year ago and appears to have overcome the faults that prevented him from making good at that time.

In the outfield, Steinberg is the big question mark. He will field well enough, even though he was an infielder for U.C.L.A. for three years. It is his hitting that could prevent him from retaining the position to which Manager Brenner has assigned him. Navarro hits a long ball and may yet gain a regular place in the gardens.

The Bears came out of training camp with seven victories and three defeats against better-than-average opposition. They are confident of going far in the W.I.L. race.

They have confidence in Manager Brenner and this may carry them close to the top. But all in all, there are still too many question marks and Yakima may have to call on the San Francisco Seals and the New York Yankees, with whom they are affiliated, before many games are played.

GLASGOW, April 20 (Reuters).—Queen's Park defeated Stenhousemuir 3-0 today in a Scottish League Division B soccer match. The match had been scheduled for tomorrow but was brought forward.

Golf--- Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

Pictured is a player chipping to the green. Notice that he uses an open stance with heels close together, the left foot noticeably further back of the direction line than is the right. That's right. He bends well over the ball. The backswing is short for control, and accuracy and this stance above described of itself properly limits the backswing. In the down stroke on this shot the player will use wrist action with the left arm guiding the club into the ball which you position, as of course you know, nearer your right foot than the left, in order that the clubface hits ball before it reaches the low point in the arc of your swing. And the more lofted the club you use the nearer the right foot the ball is positioned, so that the clubface contacts the ball before the clubhead reaches the bottom of its arc. Thus the loft of the club is permitted to do its work properly. Let the clubface do its work. Don't try to help it by scooping the ball. That's fatal!

There are a few memberships still open and anyone wishing to join is invited to be at the courts on Kingston Street tomorrow. Play will start at 11 a.m.

Minors' Radio Money Demands May Be Chandler's Last Case

CINCINNATI, April 20 (AP).—A. B. (Happy) Chandler today heard what may be his last dispute as commissioner of baseball.

It revolves around radio broadcasts of Detroit Tiger games into what four clubs of the Central League claim is their territory.

They want $40,000 of broadcast money for the season, or they want the practice stopped.

It is understood here the clubs—Grand Rapids, Muskegon, Flint and Saginaw—would divide the money.

After hearing the arguments, Chandler took the matter under advisement.

Lawyers for the Central League asked that he announce his decision by May 1. He said he would try.

Central League officials, headed by President Thomas J. Halligan, appeared in support of the clubs' contention that broadcasts of Detroit games reduced attendance at the Class "A" contests.

George Trautman, head of all minor leagues, also was present.

Halligan said, "We never deviated from our position, and we definitely are going through with our demands. We will carry the matter to the courts if necessary. We want the money or we want the practice stopped."

The dispute was brought to Chandler because of a ruling that minor league clubs cannot receive a share of major league broadcast receipts.

Lawrence Tierney Riding High After Year of Tough Breaks

HEARD IN HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, April 20 (U.P.)—"This story I am giving with the greatest happiness, because it proves what can be done if a man or woman is strong enough to overcome obstacles.

Lawrence Tierney—who a year ago couldn't get a job despite the fact that he is a good actor, because he was always making unfavorable headlines — has been given a fine role in "The Greatest Show On Earth," the C. B. De Mille circus epic. This deal was closed today with C.B., Larry, and Larry's agent William Shiffren.

A few hours later Ida Lupino, who had an option on Larry to play the Killer in "They Talk With God," took up her option. So things are moving right along for Tierney.

His brother's, brother's, and friends' encouragement has made all this possible and of course, Larry's own intestinal fortitude.

MOTHERS' DAYS

Certainly an appropriate way to celebrate Mothers' Day in advance is to let mother turn movie star. Peter Lawford's mother, Lady May Lawford, and Rhonda Fleming's mother, Olivia Louis, have both been signed for "Hong Kong" for Pine and Thomas.

Of course, these attractive matrons cannot really be called amateurs. Lady Lawford has played brief scenes in several films and in this she will play Nigel Bruce's aristocratic wife.

Mrs. Louis, who was on the stage years ago at the Winter Garden in New York and who has made several short features, is equally at home professionally. She will play a Red Cross worker and Rhonda's "boss" in the movie.

FAST TALKING

That rich oil man from Tulsa, Walter Helmerich, will have to do some fast talking to convince Peggy Dow to give up her career to marry him.

The pretty blonde of "Harvey" is listening to some sweet talk from Universal-International about her future. Peggy is young and ambitious. She is also said to be in love with Helmerich. This career vs. marriage has always been a problem with our young starlets.

Peggy's next at U.I. is "Reunion in Reno," with Mark Stevens and youngster Gigi Perreau, a love story on the comedy side.

EXPECT VISIT

Eduardo Cansino, Rita Hayworth's brother, tells me he believes Rita will come back to Hollywood without telling her plans to anyone.

"Neither my father nor I have had any definite word from Rita," he said. "In fact, we haven't talked with her. She called us when she arrived and said she would write later.

"I know Rita. There has been so much talk, I think when she comes to Hollywood she'll try to arrive quietly. And I'm pretty sure she won't go back to Europe without paying us a visit. Naturally, we're dying to see the baby and to see Rita and Rebecca. I think it's terribly unfair, some of the things they are saying about my sister."

FINE AGAIN

Barry Fitzgerald, in the Culver City Hospital, is feeling fine again and rarin' to go, and he's going to make a picture or know the reason why. He goes in June with John Ford, John Wayne and Maureen O'Hara, to Ireland for "The Quiet Man," but before he leaves he'll probably do a picture at Paramount. At least, that's the talk now.

RANDOM SNAPSHOTS

Don't for a moment believe that Ginger Rogers and Steve Cochran are through. He is in Mexico City and his long distance calls and letters are an everyday occurrence.

Betty Hutton's mother, who underwent a major operation at Cedars, was able to go home today, Mrs. Danny Kaye's mother was also operated on last Monday at the same hospital.

Bob Howard, Ned Crawford and Jack Buchtel are reported trying to buy the former Mike Romanoff Restaurant. They want to make it a medium-priced eatery.

Barbara Whiting, who wears her heart on her sleeve where Dan Dailey is concerned, at the Mocambo with Dan, happy as a lark.

Rev. Thomas English's charming niece, Kathleen English, has arrived from Ireland to visit her uncle. I met Kathleen in Dublin last year where she was nursing at one of the big hospitals. With the shortage of nurses here there will be a place for her right in our town.

Uncle Wiggily Story

By Howard Garis

JANGLE IS FOUND

Jangle looked all around her, on both sides of the woodland path, and also in front and in back. But nowhere could she see her father or her sister.

Jangle, hoping to find an adventure, had, a little while before this, hurried on ahead of Uncle Wiggily and Jingle. Jangle had heard a rustling in the bushes. She heard some little animal running along beneath the tall grass and the weeds. She could not see what it was, but she thought it might be a mouse, and so she kept on running after it.

But the animal, which may have been a wood mouse or a ground squirrel or even a bird, did not want to be caught by Jangle, so it kept out of sight.

"Daddy! Daddy! Where are you?" Jangle called. Then she added: "Jingle! Jingle! Where are you?"

There was no answer. The wind was blowing in the trees, shaking and rustling the leaves and branches. Perhaps that is why Jangle's calls were not heard by her daddy and sister.

"Oh, dear!" thought the little rabbit girl. "I guess I'm lost. I'll run back to daddy and Jingle." So Jangle ran back. Soon she reached a place where there were two paths.

"I didn't see this second path before," said Jangle to herself.

"Now I don't know which way to go—to the left or to the right. I guess I had better take the right paw path." This she did but it was the wrong path and in a little while poor Jangle was farther off than ever from her daddy and sister.

Now what about Uncle Wiggily and Jingle?

Perhaps you may remember that just before Jangle ran away and got lost, she had seen on a bush what she thought was a green stick that flew away. But it wasn't a green stick. It was a green insect called a mantis. Jingle, Jangle and Uncle Wiggily watched the mantis catch a fly. A short time after this, Uncle Wiggily noticed that Jangle was no longer with him and Jingle.

"Where did Jangle go?" asked Mr. Longears of his other little twin.

"I don't know, daddy," answered Jingle. "I saw her running down this path, like as if she was chasing something."

"Then we must run down this path after Jangle," said Uncle Wiggily. "If she goes too far she may be lost. Hurry, Jingle!"

So Uncle Wiggily and Jingle hurried down the path. Soon they came to a place where there were two paths.

"I wonder which of these two paths Jangle took?" said Mr. Longears. "The right-paw path or the left-paw path."

"Can't you tell by looking at her paw prints in the dust?" asked Jingle. "You know, like Buster's Rabbit Scouts on the trail."

"Of course I can do that," said Uncle Wiggily. "I ought to know Jangle's paw marks by this time." He stooped down and looked in the dust of the two paths. Then he twinkled his pink nose and said:

"Jangle took this left path. Her paw marks are plain to be seen." Of course to Uncle Wiggily and Jingle, coming from the opposite direction, the left path was the right path that the little lost rabbit had taken.

Mr. Longears and Jingle hurried along the left path which, in so have taken. Every now and then Uncle Wiggily would stop and call: "Jangle! Jangle! Where are you?"

At last came back the answer: "Here I am, daddy!"

"Stay where you are and Jingle and I will come to you!" shouted Uncle Wiggily. So he and Jingle hopped very fast and at last they found Jangle.

"Oh, daddy! I am so glad you found me!" said Jangle. "I was lost."

So everyone was happy and I hope you are. And if the goldfish will please stop jumping out of the water to go in the canary bird's cage I will tell you another story tomorrow.

DURBAN'S BIRD PROBLEM

DURBAN, South Africa (CP)—The mynah, a big, quarrelsome bird introduced from India 50 years ago is driving native South African birds out of Natal. Officials say that unless something is done Durban's bird population will be limited to two alien species—mynahs and house sparrows.

City Movies

Redhead and the Cowboy Fast, Colorful Western

Hollywood is at its best when turning out tales of the West, and THE REDHEAD AND THE COWBOY (Paramount), is no exception to the rule.

A well-photographed and fast-moving tale, it concerns the movements of a group of renegades from the Confederate and Union armies at the tail-end of the American Civil War.

Prettying up the countryside is redhead Rhonda Fleming, and helping her deliver the Sunday punch to the villains are Glenn Ford and Edmond O'Brien, as a pair of gun-slingers engaged in a bit of spying on the side.

Lots of action here, good rocky scenery and a fair story line to boot.

An entertaining addition to the feature is a short rehashing of the adventures of old-time Mack Sennett star Ben Turpin.

It's a very funny film — for those that remember the silent days of Hollywood it will be a pleasant memory, for others that have never seen this screen funny man it will bring lots of laughs.

WAR FILM

Another war film, this one based on German interrogation of United States flyers, comes to town in the form of TARGET UNKNOWN (Universal - International).

Routine stuff but fairly competently done with Mark Stevens in the starring role.

The picture bogs down in between scenes of air battles and an escape from a prison camp.

For those who like their excitement on a more lavish scale ALI BABA AND THE FORTY THIEVES is added to the bill.

Maria Montez and Jon Hall work up a bit of a storm in this Technicolor fable.

Mrs. Mae H. Bell, Liverpool, Queen's Co., Nova Scotia, attended a party a few months ago and in the course of her conversation with some other women told them how she had relieved arthritic pain by taking SARNAK after having suffered with the pain for almost three years. Two of the women suffered with arthritis themselves and when Mrs. Bell spoke of SARNAK and her own experience, they told her she should have us publish her own statement so here, in her own words, is what Mrs. Bell has to say:

"I suffered from arthritic pain for three years and last Spring suffered pain so much in my shoulder, arm, fingers and ankles that I could hardly stand it. I tried different kinds of pills and medicines but nothing gave relief. Then a friend told me to try SARNAK. I took eight bottles of SARNAK and almost from the beginning I had relief. Now I wouldn't be without SARNAK in the house and I am glad to tell everyone what SARNAK has done to bring me relief."

Try SARNAK This Spring

After a long Winter resistance is often low and you have a feeling of general tiredness, lack of energy and vitality. When you feel this way old troublesome symptoms often cause suffering. SARNAK is so effective for aches and pains and general run-down condition that you usually get results within the first few days.

Make up your mind to give SARNAK a chance to help you this Spring as it has helped thousands of others who had gone on day after day suffering. Thousands of bottles of SARNAK are sold every day in Canada. Remember, there are no substitutes for SARNAK. Always insist on the genuine SARNAK. In some rural sections, where there are few drug stores, SARNAK may be difficult to obtain. Don't pay anyone more than $1.35 a bottle. Order by mail from your druggist or mail order house, to assure yourself not paying grey market prices. If one druggist does not have SARNAK, try another.

DRILL TEAM INVITED

The Victoria Girls' Drill Team will be featured performers at the 45th annual Kelowna International Regatta, Capt. Norman Foster, director and trainer, announced yesterday.

Their invitation to the regatta came from R. F. Parkinson, chairman of the annual water celebration. His Honor Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace has accepted an invitation to be commodore of the regatta.

The girls drill team will be featured in city parades preceding main regatta events for the three days of the regatta, August 2, 3 and 4.

Capt. Foster said the corps now stood at 50 girls, making it the largest permanent drill team on the continent, and possibly in the world.

Howe Credited With Marker Given Lindsay

MONTREAL, April 20 (CP).—National Hockey League headquarters has announced that a Stanley Cup play-off goal previously awarded Ted Lindsay of Detroit Red Wings, now has been officially credited to Gordie Howe.

The decision was reached after league officials conferred with referee Bill Chadwick and official scorer Ed Dagnino of Boston.

The game was the sixth of the cup semi-final between Montreal Canadiens and the Red Wings, played in Montreal April 7. The goal was scored at 19:15 of the third period during Detroit's furious attack in an effort to tie the score.

Canadiens won the game 3-2 and the series 4-2 in games and advanced to the final against Toronto Maple Leafs.

The goal was fired from a swarm of players inside the Montreal blue line.

The official change gives Howe four goals in the play-off series. The assists remain the same—to Sid Abel and George Gee.

NOTTINGHAM, England (CP).—Nottingham University runs a flying club of which the members are all men. A 20-year-old girl, who has piloted a plane for three years, said "Maybe, they are shy," after she was refused entry.

Robinson Says Umpires Out To Get Him

NEW YORK, April 21 (Saturday) (AP).—The New York Daily News said today that Jackie Robinson, star Negro second-baseman for the Brooklyn Dodgers, has accused National League umpires of "being out to get me."

"I know what they're doing," The News quoted Robinson. "I'm not blind. They're out to get me. One of them went up to Dressen (Charley Dressen, Brooklyn manager) before the season started and said as much. Claimed that I'm trying to show up the umpires, and they weren't going to stand for it.

"I'm not trying to show anyone up, but I think I'm entitled to make a beef as much as anyone else."

Robinson became involved in a minor controversy during the Dodgers-Phillies game at Brooklyn Wednesday. When plate umpire Dusty Boggess called him out on a third strike, Robinson threw away his bat and shouted something to the umpire as he trotted to his position.

Ford Frick, National League president, said he had been informed of no incident.

"If they (the ball players) get out of line," said Frick, "we will take care of it. If they don't we pay no attention."

Liberal M.P. Raps N.H.L. As "Combine"

OTTAWA, April 20 (CP). — Rev. Dan McIvor (L., Fort William), told the Commons last night he believes the National Hockey League is "one of the greatest combines we have in Canada."

The veteran clergyman and long-time sports enthusiast said he feared for the future of hockey "if it continues to be so destructive to our good athletes by way of injuries."

Dealing specifically with the N.H.L., he said:

"Boys of 16 years of age are infatuated with hockey. They play a good game, have plenty of speed and can find the goal. A scout comes along and such a boy signs something.

"Afterward he may want to change his mind. Perhaps his dad has talked to him, or a man who is coaching him, or his mother has had something to say about it.

"Nevertheless, the big magnate says to him: 'You will play for us or you will not play at all.'

"To my mind, that is one of the worst combines in Canada. . . ."

the 1951 Mercury

Yes! . . . it's a mighty, beautiful car. Beautiful from the distinctively-groomed grille to the graceful, flowing lines of the newly-styled swept-back rear fenders. Fresh, new, rich colours give extra emphasis to Mercury's exterior beauty. A larger rear window adds to safety.

"Studio-quiet" interiors are rich in breath-taking beauty. New, long-wearing fabrics . . . artistically fashioned to enhance your riding pleasure. Comfort is supreme on soft, spacious seats.

Mercury performance is mighty, beautiful, too. There are big, oversize "Duo-Servo" brakes for sure, positive straight-line stopping; "Cushion-Coil" springing for greater comfort and driving ease. Truly, the '51 Mercury is the mighty, beautiful car of the year.

PROVEN V-8 PERFORMANCE AT ITS POWER-PACKED BEST

The Mercury 112 Hp. V-8 "Hi-Power Compression" engine has been further improved for smooth, economical performance. The "Econ-O-Miser" carburetor makes gas-saving automatic. The Mercury V-8 type engine has been time and road-proven by 20 years' experience of the world's largest manufacturer of V-8 engines.

"TOUCH-O-MATIC" OVERDRIVE (optional at extra cost) provides easier, more restful driving, saves up to 20% on gasoline, cuts engine speed 24%.

MERCURY AGAIN WINS IN RUGGED A.A.A. TEST

For the second year in succession Mercury, with Touch-O-Matic Overdrive, won the Class "C" in the Mobilgas Economy Run . . . conducted by the American Automobile Association. Over a gruelling 840-mile course through ice-ridden mountain passes . . . sweltering, sand-swept roads—under virtually every kind of weather and road conditions, the 1951 Mercury delivered the best ton-mile economy of any car in its class. Here is definite proof . . . official proof of performance and top economy.

Jews Around World Celebrate Passover

Passover—the Jewish Festival of Freedom—was celebrated by Victorians of Jewish faith last night—along with others throughout the world.

For the orthodox, another home "freedom" feast was being prepared for tonight — in a world [illegible] becoming a shrinking commodity.

The small community of fewer than 100 in this city attended a special service in the Temple Emmanuel at 7 p.m. yesterday to mark with prayer this year's celebration of the 3,500-year-old religious tradition.

But observance of the Passover — second in importance only to the Day of Atonement in the Jewish church calendar — was mainly conducted at home as custom ordains.

UNLEAVENED BREAD

Families drew together in their homes to partake of a banquet dinner and eat the Mazzoth, unleavened bread, which plays a major part in the observance.

For the orthodox the unleavened bread must be part of the diet for eight days in memory of the exodus from Egypt when the ancient Israelites attained their freedom and could not stop to make leavened bread in the haste of their flight.

The first Passover was ordained by Moses at God's command, Jewish people believe. The Israelites were ordered to kill a male lamb and sprinkle its blood on their thresholds so the Lord would "pass over" them when He went forth to slay the first born of the Egyptian masters.

The Israelites were commanded to eat the lamb as they prepared for flight from the Pharoah's harsh rule.

END OF YEAR

In Biblical times the day following the Passover service was the first day in the civil calendar year.

In a Passover message, Dr. J. H. Narod, acting rabbi of the Temple Emmanuel, emphasized the holy period symbolized freedom and liberty.

"The same freedom from bondage the oppressed people of the world are fighting for today," he said.

The special prayer book, which is studied in Jewish homes following the Passover feast, cries, "May the day soon dawn when every shackle is loosed . . . and every yoke is broken . . . when man shall take his brother's hand and show him loving kindness."

Yacht Club Planning Extensive Program

MARINE AND TRAVEL NEWS

By RAY WORMALD

One of the most extensive sailing programs of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club's history has been drawn up for the forthcoming Summer season.

Saturday, May 12, will mark [illegible]. From then until September 23 sailing enthusiasts and yachtsmen will carry out a wide variety of special races and other events.

Snipe-class craft of the Royal Canadian Navy Yacht Club will also be seen in a number of scheduled events.

Numerous are the special races, the first of which will be staged May 20 when auxiliary sloops compete in the annual William Head race for the Ben Temple Trophy. Over May 31 and June 1 there will be participation in the classic Swiftsure Lightship race — to start off Brotchie Ledge, round the lightship (off Cape Flattery) and finish off the breakwater.

POSSIBLE ENTRIES

H. A. Wallace, commodore of the R.V.Y.C., reportedly will enter the Swiftsure Lightship contest aboard his Buccaneer. Possibly, too, Max Young's vessel will take part.

The annual fleet cruise to Sidney will be made on the week-end of June 2-4; and June 10 will see auxiliary sloops taking part in the Hein Bank race.

Biggest event of the year will be the Pacific International Yachting Association's annual regatta—in which the R.V.Y.C. will be host to hundreds of craft from all over the Pacific Northwest. The regatta will be staged June 30 to July 4.

The fleet rendezvous at Smugglers' Cove, on Chatham Island, will be made July 28; with the flag officers' picnic at the same place the following day.

NAVY REGATTA

August 4 and 5 will see the second annual Royal Canadian Navy Yacht Club regatta, in which R.V.Y.C. craft will operate jointly with the naval vessels.

On August 11, auxiliary sloops will take part in one of the season's toughest races — the Dungeness Light Race; and August 18 and 19 are dates set for the R.V.Y.C.'s own regatta. The Cowichan Bay regatta will be held September 1 and 2. A cruise to Beecher Bay will be made September 8.

Scattered liberally between these main events will be many other sailing programs. There will be a series of contests for smaller craft such as Snipes, Lightnings and Stars.

AB. Ray Mots, 21, of Winnipeg, was married yesterday to Miss Marion O'Connel of Melbourne. The bride was delayed when she lost her way en route to the ceremony. She arrived 25 minutes late.

Mots met his bride when his ship called recently in Brisbane, where she worked in a military hospital.

Decision Soon On Jurisdiction Of Rival Unions

A decision by British Columbia's Labor Relations Board is expected next week on the claims of rival unions for bargaining representation of Trail smelter workers.

D'Arcy Baldwin, board chairman, said last night that the board's decision will be announced as quickly as possible, "but certainly not before Tuesday."

The board last Monday heard legal representatives of the United Steelworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.), and the International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers (Ind.)

CLAIMS DISMISSED

The Smelter Workers now hold certification for the more than 3,000 Trail employees of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company. The steelworkers claim of signed-up membership for a majority of the workers, were thrown out by the board.

The steel union took its case to the Supreme Court, where the board's decision was judged invalid.

The board's second verdict will be of keen interest to Canadian labor, because of charges of Communist domination of mine-mill and its stormy background of opposition to the Canadian Congress of Labor, the body which drummed out mine-mill officers on grounds of Communist sympathies.

Timber Output High This Year

Timber scaled in British Columbia in the first two months of this year was double the amount scaled in the same period of 1950 when bad weather hampered B.C. logging operations.

In January and February of 1950, the forest service of the Department of Lands and Forests reports that 534,988,187 feet were scaled, compared with 217,835,517 feet scaled in the same period in 1950.

February totals show 257,815,918 feet scaled this year as compared with 124,349,572 feet scaled in February, 1950.

Arena Seeking Big Attractions

Harry James and his orchestra and Canada's Happy Gang are two of the attractions the Victoria Arena Commission hopes to bring here this Summer.

Directors said last night they are negotiating for appearances here, either in June or July, but that no contracts have yet been signed.

They have also tentatively arranged to book Ice Cycles, top attraction last Winter, for January 15 to 19, 1952.

Jubilee Celebrations

Sidney Residents Sprout Mustache Contest Entries

First feature of the Sidney Diamond Jubilee celebrations to be seen in North Saanich is the mustache-growing contest sponsored by the Sidney Rotarianes.

Many residents have entered the contest and are in the early stages of an Edwardian-style mustache.

Preliminary arrangements for the two-day show scheduled for June 26 and 27 are now well under way.

Included in the list of attractions proposed for the Jubilee celebrations are a beauty contest for the title of "Miss Vancouver Island." The contest will be open to girls from all parts of the Island, and finalists will compete at the Sidney show.

The evening of the first day will feature a stage show presented by the Sidney Junior Band and the North Saanich Musical Society.

A carnival will be sponsored by the North Saanich schools, and the North Saanich Service Club will organize square dancng.

NOT FINAL

The program has not yet been drawn up, and it is expected that a number of entertainers from Saanich and Victoria will also be included on the lists.

The show is a special edition of the annual Sidney Day. The arrangements are in the hands of the North Saanich War Memorial Park Society, which has been responsible for Sidney Day for many years. This year the directorate, under the chairmanship of A. W. Murphy, North Saanich teacher, has been greatly increased to take care of the many details.

This year is the 60th anniversary of the founding of Sidney as the commercial and industrial centre of North Saanich. Before 1891 the heart of North Saanich was located at Shoal Harbor, now a residential district about a mile and a half north of Sidney.

The boat was moored to the dock, fore and aft. Running to the stern, he cut through the light hawser which was running the boat. Then he ran back to the bow line and pulling it over the bollard, cast it into the water. Almost instantly a black gap began to appear between the boat and the dock.

He turned back to the trees, paused motionless as he heard an automobile coming. Rob heard the sound of the motor for a second or two, then silence. He was now squarely between two fires. When he looked back at the boat a figure was running along the deck.

"Hey, you!" the man on deck called. "Come back here."

Rob knew that if he only [illegible] some way of holding the man's attention even for a few seconds, the boat would then have swung out into the current, and the gap would be so wide that the man would have to jump in the water and swim before he could gain the pier.

"Hah!" Rob shouted. "You're under arrest."

The man kept running.

Rob squeezed the trigger on the automatic, firing twice, blindly. As nearly as he could tell in the starlight, the man had ceased to run and had flung himself full length on the deck of the boathouse.

By this time the current was carrying the boat out toward the middle of the stream.

Rob turned and raced for the friendly protection of the shadows. He could hear someone running, someone coming toward him from the direction of the road. Rob looked back toward the houseboat and suddenly became rigid.

A shaft of ruddy light was coming up through the bow of the houseboat, and, even as Rob looked, a streak of orange flame licked up into brilliance. A moment later there was a muffled explosion and the flames seemed to blast right up through the deck at the bow of the ship. Ten seconds more, and the whole front of the houseboat was a mass of flames.

As Rob looked, a woman stepped out from the trees, to stand on the edge of the river, silhouetted against that red, flaming spectacle. A woman who, judging from her slender figure and easy grace, was young and lithe.

Turning his back to the flames, Rob found the trail came to a [illegible] big black sedan standing [illegible] with the lights off, but with the motor running. Rob jumped into the car, eased it into gear and drove away fast until he came to the pavement.

He turned north just on a hunch, and within two hundred yards came to a drawbridge. He turned east, crossed the river and then turned south. He felt certain now that he was well to the north of Noonville.

It took him something more than an hour to get to Noonville, and then, on impulse, he parked the car by the side of the road, some four hundred yards from the place where he had his little [illegible]

He locked the car, slipped the key in his pocket, and started groping his way toward the house, picking his way so that he could approach his kennels from the rear.

He heard the throaty growl of one of the dogs, the restless stirring of others. Rob spoke to them, "Steady, boys, quiet."

The dogs recognized his voice, remained quiet. He started to walk boldly to the house but then checked himself as he heard a low whine on his right. A moment later he made out the form of a dog pulling against a chain, straining every muscle to reach him. Rob moved a step foward.

"Why, it's Lobo! What are you doing chained up, Lobo?"

CHAPTER XIII

Wondering what had caused Joe to tie Lobo out in the open with a chain, Rob released the catch.

"Well, come on, old fellow. We'll go to the house."

Lobo held back and growled. Rob suddenly realized that, in tying Lobo up by a chain out in the vicinity of the kennels, Joe had tried to convey a message. There could only have been one reason why Joe would have chained the dog outside, not under any shelter. Someone had ordered him to chain the dog up. Someone in a position of authority.

Rob, inching his way forward cautiously, became rigid when a silhouetted figure moved between him and the illuminated oblong of the pantry window. There was something square-shouldered and official about that figure. Turning he retraced his steps to the kennel, then walked cautiously down to the place where he had left his car.

Rob unlocked the door and said, "All right, Lobo, in you go." He swung the car in a complete circle and headed back toward Falthaven. He knew that his hours of liberty were numbered.
